INDEPENDENTS NOT TO ATTEND HOUSE CAUCUS

G. O. P. Regulars Meet Tonight to Select Candidates for Offices

SEEKING FREE HAND Western Group Hopes to Gain More Power During Next Congress

Washington—(AP)—Ranks thinned by the purposeful absence of independent-minded members, the Republicans of the house will meet in caucus tonight to select candidates for offices in the next congress.

The independents, mostly from the western states, want a free hand next December, are unwilling to commit themselves now to the present Republican leadership, and are determined to gain greater recognition for their group.

Among the regulars as meeting time approached there was no sign of opposition to Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, for renomination as speaker. He has held the chair for six years now. The other officers also appeared slated for renomination without opposition: John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, floor leader; William Tyler "age, clerk; Joseph G. Rodgers, sergeant-at-arms, and Bert W. Kennedy, doorkeeper.

The independents have not entirely rebelled against this leadership but the significance of their abstentions lay in close margin between the Republicans and Democrats in the next house. In a block, that dozen or fifteen votes could elect either slate or force a compromise on the ticket or in committee selections. They have given no sign, however, of wishing to join the Democrats.

Longworth Conciliatory

Recent weeks have seen Speaker Longworth in a conciliatory attitude toward the opposition. Only yesterday he obtained reopening of the oil embargo question after the war and means committee had shelled for the session legislation sought urgently by petroleum state representatives. To aid in passage of the "lame duck" resolution much desired by westerners, and his support of the Veterans Loan bill was popular with an overwhelming majority of the house.

Liberalization of the house rules, whose stringency has been a sore spot with many, was assured, a large place in tonight's discussion, but most of the party leaders already concede that the absence of a controlling majority in the next house would make the present regulations ineffective. There was sentiment too for not committing the party to a rules program until the next session. On the Democrats, who also had planned to caucus this week, changed their minds some time ago and out of their elections until next term. By then deaths may alter the standing of the parties.

Among those who have announced they will stay away are Representatives LaGuardia of New York, Maas and Christgau of Minnesota, and Schneider of Wisconsin. Maas explained he had a dinner engagement with Representative Kvale of Minnesota, the single Farmer-Labor party member.

"It was a choice of the more agreeable of two affairs," he said, "both social."

LAWYER FACES COURT ON CHARGE OF ASSAULT

Milwaukee—(AP)—An assault case against Atty. Walter Corrigan, photographer was set for trial in circuit court today. The photographer alleges the attorney, counsel for Mrs. Unnette Serfert whose divorce case was heard here in closed session, struck him because Corrigan feared picture would be taken.

Yesterday, a hearing on an injunction proceeding started by Mrs. Serfert to prevent publication of her picture in the Sentinel was adjourned until March 5.

Cops Freed By Bandits After Raid

Hastings, Neb.—(AP)—Two policemen who were kidnapped by three bank robbers after a gunfight with officers here in which two persons were injured were released this morning.

Hastings, Neb.—(AP)—Hundreds of officers in Nebraska and Kansas today were searching for two bank robbers who kidnapped two policemen and escaped after a gun battle here in which an officer and the third member of the bandit gang were wounded seriously.

The wounded robber was apprehended early today at Belvidere, Neb., and taken to a hospital at Hebron. He was accompanied by a woman and a year-old baby. He gave his name as Robert Hendricks, 36, and said his home was at Hastings. The woman and child were taken to the county jail at Hebron.

Volcott Condit, an investigator for the Nebraska Bankers association, was shot by one of the robbers when officers attempted to arrest the bandits who yesterday robbed the Hastings National bank of $27,678 after binding and gagging 13 employees of the bank.

Late last night officers surrounded the robbers' house two blocks from Hastings college. Two officers went to the door. The robbers kept guns trained on them while they were in the house and the officers were forced to leave. Condit attempted to enter the house through a rear door and was shot. He returned the fire, but the robbers dragged him into the house.

A gun fight between officers and the robbers followed and numerous shots were exchanged.

Pleading With Officers

Pointing two machine guns at Condit, the robbers forced him to walk to the front of the house and plead with the other officers to cease firing and were forced to lay on the ground while the bandits escaped in two motorcars with the woman and child. Two officers, Police Captain Frank Yetman and Patrolman William Woods, were kidnapped by the bandits and taken with them.

Woods was found early this morning bound to a fence post four miles west of Grafton, Neb. He was forced to enter the robbers' car driven by Hendricks.

When they reached the point near Grafton, the man ordered Woods out of the car, bound his hands, forced him to sit down straddle a fence post and then bound his feet with barbed wire. The robber stuffed his handkerchief in the officers' mouth, abandoned him. Several hours later Hendricks told officers at Hebron where he had left the policemen and a posse quickly went to his aid.

SUGAR BEET GROWERS DISCUSS BONUS ISSUE

Manitowoc—(AP)—Sugar beet growers of Manitowoc and Calumet-cos will meet Friday night to consider failure of the Menominee River sugar company to pay a 50 cents per ton bonus on last year's crop. Possibility of legal action to collect on the contracts between the company and the growers will be discussed.

A committee of the growers has already consulted with attorneys, following the company's notification that due to the slack sugar business and the general depression the bonus will be omitted.

BULLETIN

Washington—(AP)—The House today passed the Brigham bill to tax all yellow oleomargarine at 10 cents a pound.

Exclusive Philadelphia Club Visited By Raiders

Philadelphia—(AP)—The Manufacturer's club, one of Philadelphia's most exclusive institutions, was raided early today by a special police detail personally directed by Mayor Samuel B. Schofield, director of public safety, a member of the club. Armed with a warrant issued by Magistrate Edward P. Carney, the raiding party entered the club shortly before 2 o'clock. In a suite of rooms on an upper floor, Director Schofield said, he found a regular old-fashioned bar, and about 149 lockers, many of which contained liquor.

From the lockers and bar the raiders said they removed between 500 and 600 quarts of liquor, including cordials, champagnes, gin, Scotch and gin. The manager of the club, August Bock, was arrested on a charge of possession.

Immediately after the raid Director Schofield tendered his resignation as a member of the club and issued the following statement:

"The only way to enforce the prohibition law is to arrest the big fish along with the little fellows. To the police, Broad and Walnut streets (the club's central city location) looks the same as any little speakeasy up an alley."

Major Schofield received reports late yesterday that a large stock of liquor was in the club. He made a personal investigation. Since he was a member, nothing was thought of his visit.

Entering the club, the raiding party went directly to the rooms on the upper floor, where, with the use of crowbars, they forced their way into the suite, after repeated knocking failed to bring any response.

A number of members of the club were in the luxuriously appointed barroom. They were not arrested.

AMENDS WHITE MEASURE, THEN VOTES PASSAGE

Grobschmidt Bill Against Blue Laws Is Passed in Lower House

Madison—(AP)—A bill setting the speed limit at 50 miles per hour on highways outside of cities, towns and villages in Wisconsin was passed by the state senate today. It now goes to the assembly for concurrence.

The original speed limit bill introduced by Sen. Merritt White, Wisconsin, would have put 45 miles per hour at the top speed but this was amended to raise the speed to 50 miles. The vote on the amendment measure was 17 to 14.

The roll call on the bills was as follows:

For the bill—Anderson, Barker, Blanchard, Cashman, Clifford, Felten, Gettelman, Goodland, Hall, Hunt, Miller, Mueller, Nelson, Olson, Shearer, White and Zantow. Total 17.

Against the bill—Boldt, Carroll, Daggett, Duncan, Foss, Keppel, Loomis, Melhagen, Morris, Polakowski, Roberts, Rush, Severson and Smith. Total 14.

In the lower house Assemblyman John Grobschmidt, Milwaukee, won his fight against blue laws, the assembly voting 60 to 26 in favor of his bill permitting the operation of drug stores, theatres, soda fountains, restaurants, grocery stores and places of amusement or recreation on Sundays.

Repeals Old Laws

Under the obsolete laws on the statute books, residents of the state are not permitted to be present at any dancing or public diversion, show or entertainment or to take part in any sport, game or play. Assemblyman Grobschmidt's bill repeals these restrictions. The measure now goes to the senate for approval.

In addition to the White speed bill, the only other measure to pass the senate today was Sen. Herman Severson's bill relating to domestic life insurance company fees. Under this bill, which was passed 22 to 3, domestic life insurance companies must pay an annual license fee equal to 33 per cent of their gross incomes for the year ending Dec. 31 excepting premiums, contracts for annuities and rent income.

The senate worked well into its Friday calendar. Five bills relating to insurance companies, introduced by Sen. P. J. Smith, Eau Claire, on behalf of the insurance department, were killed while Senator Conrad Shearer's bill for licensing taxidermists was engrossed. The senate also engrossed Sen. Philip Nelson's bill making the commanders of the American Disabled Veterans of Foreign Wars members of the soldiers' rehabilitation board.

Advances Duncan Bill

Creation of an executive council of 20 members, to sit with the governor on virtually all matters, was assured when the assembly voted 54 to 31 to order a third reading Sen. Thomas Duncan's bill.

Under the governor's plan the council would be composed of 10 members of the legislature and 10 citizens chosen by the chief executive.

Assemblyman Charles Budlong, Marinette, objected to the council and said he could see no necessity for the Duncan bill.

OSHKOSH MAYOR FOR WORLD FAIR BOYCOTT

Oshkosh—(AP)—Unless Chicago cleans up its gangs, a boycott of the 1933 world fair is suggested by Mayor Taylor Brown. Mayor Brown says respectable persons will not wish to go to Chicago. He suggested legalizing of beer as a means of cleaning up the city prior to fair time.

Claim State Market Group Didn't Seek Exchange Aid

Meeting to Revise Cheese Marketing Rules Opens at Fond du Lac

Fond du Lac—(AP)—Charges that the state department of agriculture and markets has never attempted to obtain the cooperation of the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange at Plymouth in any course leading to a revision of marketing rules were submitted today by representatives of the exchange at a statewide meeting called in an effort to re-establish the cheese market at Plymouth on a bargaining basis.

The statement, outlining the exchange's position, said no representative of the state department had ever approached members of the exchange for information.

"If an impartial investigation has been made on the part of the state department, the Wisconsin Cheese exchange feels some of its members should have been interviewed and the books and records of the exchange examined," the statement said.

Committeemen contended that H. G. Davis, president of the exchange, notified Chairman C. E. Hill of the department of agriculture and markets, on Feb. 17 of his willingness to cooperate in an effort to secure a change in rules, which would provide a better way for establishing a market for cheese.

Spokesmen for the exchange contended Hill declined to accept the offer for a cooperative investigation and proceeded with plans for the conference being held here.

Members of the committee who drafted the exchange's statement included H. Lippus and Rex Rowe, Fond du Lac, and L. J. Brinkman, Sheboygan.

The department recently has completed an investigation of the Plymouth board, which each Friday morning, through perfunctory transaction between two dealers, sets the wholesale price of American cheese through the United States for the ensuing week.

There are 11 counts listed against the board by the state department, which will offer a recommendation for the founding the state-wide committee to represent the cheese industry. The committee would be representative of farmers, cheese makers, and dealers, and under the plans would meet soon with the department and officials of the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture to plan the program for organizing the price-establishing machine that would "truly reflect the market conditions."

The report to be presented today will list the following counts against the Plymouth board:

"The average weekly production of cheese in Wisconsin averages 6,000 tons."

APPROVE PURCHASE OF FOREST UNIT

U. S. Reservation Commission Puts O. K. on Land in Two States

Washington—(AP)—Approval of federal purchase of the Flambeau unit, the Moquah unit and the Oneida unit in Wisconsin and the Hiawatha National forest and the Marquette unit in Michigan, has been given by the National Forest Reservation commission. The purchases are a part of a project to buy 254,022 acres in 19 states at a cost of $1,186,169 to add to the national forest system.

The approval for Wisconsin and Michigan purchases include: 11,252 acres in the Flambeau unit at $16,075; 5,168 acres in the Moquah unit at $5,379; 6,775 acres in the Oneida unit at $13,585; 1,155 acres in the Hiawatha-forest at $1,732, and 1,800 acres in the Marquette unit at $2,700.

While no definite action was taken, the commission also considered creation of three additional purchase units in Wisconsin. Those under consideration are the Oconto, Oconto and Langlade-cos; the Menominee, in Taylor-co, and the Namekagon, in Washburn and Douglas-cos.

CHICAGO BANK TELLER FOILS EXTORTIONISTS

Chicago—(AP)—Efforts of three men to extort $5,000 from Harry Kaplan, retired cigar manufacturer, were balked yesterday when the teller of the Continental Illinois National bank stepped on a burglar alarm. Frightened, the three men, who had accompanied Kaplan to the bank, escaped.

Kaplan's story to police recounted how the trio kidnapped him from a street intersection, held him captive a day and two nights, threatened to burn him alive in a brewery beer vat which the trio insisted was a boiler, then drove him to the bank. There Kaplan was to draw the $5,000 and hand it over to them. The teller, sensing that something was wrong, stepped on the electric button instead of turning the money over.

Thompson Foes Opposing Bundesen Entry In Race

Chicago—(AP)—Opponents of "Big Boy" Thompson's election as world's fair mayor of Chicago, were planning today for a united fight against the mayor.

Their plans took the form of opposition to the independent candidacy of Corporal Herman Bundesen, a Democrat, announced yesterday. Bundesen's name was entered by the People's Non-Partisan ticket, as an opponent of Thompson and Anton J. Cermak, chairman of the Cook-co board, who was nominated by the Democrats Tuesday when "Big Boy" defeated Judge John H. Lyle, "massacre" member, and others in the Republican primary.

Among those opposing Thompson's candidacy was Col. Robert J. Thompson, president of the Association of Commerce and a leading figure in his efforts to keep down crime in Chicago. Col. Ran-

QUIZ MEDIC ON HIS SERVICES TO AL CAPONE

Doctor Indignantly Denies Gang Chief Paid Him for Affidavit

Chicago—(AP)—The price of illness among the Capones formed the chief topic of conversation in United States District court today as "Scarface" Al's Miami physician submitted to cross-examination by the government concerning his ministrations to the gangster.

The bulky Alphonse was again the lure for crowds that gathered about the federal building to watch his advent for the contempt of court trial. And again Capone eluded the curious, arriving early in a small sedan that was in contrast with the roomy, polished limousine that brought him yesterday.

Capone wore a new outfit for his second day in court, where he tardily returned in response to a grand jury subpoena two years ago, on plea of illness, has involved him in contempt. Today it was a double-breasted grey suit, white shirt and striped tie and the big diamond ring was supplanted by what Capone explained to girl reporters was a "cat's-eye."

Dr. Kenneth Phillips, the gangster's physician who made affidavit to his illness in 1929, occupied the witness stand through the morning. The government prosecutor, Jacob I. Grossman, directed cross-examination toward the financial transactions between doctor and patient.

The witness said he charged Capone $10 for the first call and $3 thereafter, his total bill running to $300 or $400. Dr. Phillips testified he had rendered a bill for $2,000 to Capone for treating a brother-in-law, but said this account was settled without litigation for $1,000. He said he understood his expenses as a witness would be paid, but no arrangement was made to take care of his Florida practice during his absence.

Records Missing

The records of Capone's treatment were missing, he said, save for the notations made at the time of the original consultation, when, he has previously testified, he found the gang chief suffering from bronchial pneumonia. On this first call he said the patient was in bed, with a group of friends gathered about him, all with their hands cuffed.

"As if in prayer?" asked the prosecutor.

"Yes."

Dr. Phillips was indignant when asked whether Capone paid him for the affidavit concerning Capone's illness. In excuse for his failure to answer the grand jury subpoena.

"He certainly did not," the witness said.

Interest beyond the national border was manifested at the trial today with the appearance in court of a Toronto newspaperman. He greeted Capone with a question whether he had any interest in the activities of W. Perkins Bull, whose attorneys, while Bull was in a Toronto hospital yesterday suffering injuries incurred in a motor accident, settled upon Dr. John Crozier Sidley of Racine, Wis., a $10,000 annual income in a damage suit for alleged shadowing of Dr. Sidley.

Capone denied implication.

"Where was the King, Edward hotel in Toronto, recently?" the reporter asked.

"No, I have never been there in my life," Capone answered, adding later "upon my word, I haven't. I have never been in Canada in my life."

Meanwhile a vaudeville cast against Capone, in which he furnished $10,000 real estate bond yesterday, was postponed to March 4, because of his federal court hearing.

Without denying Bundesen's name, Judge H. H. Thompson, sixth co. judge, who supported Alphonse's candidacy, issued a statement in which he said:

"It is to be hoped that an independent candidate will not be brought in as he can only confuse the issues and make matters worse. The election of Bundesen is a victory of the Association of Commerce and a leading figure in his efforts to keep down crime in Chicago. Col. Ran-

SCANDAL HINTED AT NORDBYE HEARING

Schall Charges Candidate Prevented Quiz Leading to Governor

Washington—(AP)—Senator Schall charged today before the senate judiciary committee studying the nomination of Gunnar H. Nordbye as a Minnesota federal judge that the nominee had "thrown a grand jury off the track of a scandal that was leading to the governor's office."

The Minnesota Republican interrupted Norton Cross, Minneapolis lawyer, who was testifying in favor of Nordbye, and said Nordbye's charge to a grand jury had diverted an investigation that promised to go into the "rat farm" grunda," which he said had "since come on, into the open."

Cross, however, replied vigorously that Nordbye had charged the grand jury to confine itself to the matters before it and he was supported by George B. Leonard, president of the Minneapolis Bar association. They contended the grand jury had no jurisdiction that its jurisdiction in the matter extended over the state.

The blind senator, who had previously announced he would fight Nordbye's confirmation, said the "rat farm scandal" cost the state $47,000,000.

LONGLEY'S EYES AGAIN CENTER OF TESTIMONY

Chicago—(AP)—It was necessary for Charles J. Davenport, director of the Carnegie Institute in Washington, to look into George Longley's eyes for only a minute to decide—so he told the court—that George couldn't have been the son of a millionaire hat manufacturer.

Davenport, authority on genetics, said yesterday George's eyes were light brown and then testified that blue-eyed parents cannot have brown-eyed children. He was the third technician to testify for Mrs. Mary Caroline Longley, third wife of the late Albert W. Longley, who is resisting a claim of George Longley that he is the son of the manufacturer by his first wife and therefore deserves a greater share of the million dollar estate than a $500 annuity.

Previous witnesses have testified that both Longley and his first wife had blue eyes.

SAYS 2 BURLINGTON ROBBERS IDENTIFIED

Burlington—(AP)—A. M. DeVourney, manager of the Protective Association of the Wisconsin Bankers' association, last night said that witnesses had identified, from pictures, two of the eight men who held up the bank of Burlington and escaped with loot estimated variously at from $12,000 to $50,000.

Bank officials refused to give out the exact amount taken. The men were believed to have escaped into Illinois. They were at large in an automobile carrying Alabama license plates.

Part of the gang walked into the bank shortly before 2 o'clock p. m. yesterday and at the point of revolvers and a sub-machine gun forced employees and patrons—nearly a score in all—to lie on the floor while they ransacked the vaults.

YOUTHS NABBED AFTER HOLDUP: ONE WOUNDED

Not Penny in Treasury to Meet Demand, Hoover Tells Senate

BULLETIN

Washington—(AP)—The house over-rode President Hoover's veto on the bonus bill this afternoon.

Washington—(AP)—President Hoover today vetoed the Veterans Loan bill.

In a message to the house, he called the legislation "unwise from the standpoint of the veterans themselves and unwise from the standpoint of all the people."

Overwhelmingly approved by the house and senate, the bill would increase the amount a veteran could borrow on his bonus certificate from 22 1/2 to 50 per cent of the face value. Its congressional proponents stood ready to make a prompt effort to override the veto.

The president said the legislation imposes a potential cash outlay of $1,700,000,000, if all veterans apply for loans, less some $300,000,000 already loaned. He repeated Veterans Administrator Hines' estimate a billion dollars would be required to administer the bill.

"There not being a penny in the treasury to meet such demand," he declared. "The government must borrow this sum through the sale of the reserve fund securities together with further issues or we must need impose further taxation."

Many in Distress

"The 'unhappy' act for the reopening of the Bonus act is the claim that funds from the national treasury should be provided to veterans in distress as the result of the drought and business depression."

"There are thousands unemployed and in need today in common with many others of our people. These, like the others, are being provided the basic necessities of life by the devoted committees in those parts of the country affected by the depression or drought."

"The government and many employers are giving preference to veterans in employment. Their welfare is and should be a matter of concern to our people."

"Inquiry indicates that such care is being given throughout the country and it also indicates that the number of veterans in need of such relief is a minor percentage of the whole."

The president also said that to allow veterans to borrow to within 50 per cent would work a hardship on the wives and dependents of veterans who will have used the value of their certificate and thereby deprived of necessary insurance.

"The need of our people today is a decrease in the burden of taxes, and unemployment, yet they (include the veterans) are being steadily forced toward higher tax levels and lessened employment by such acts as this," he said.

Terming the legislation of grave importance, he said, the president said "much grave importance is the whole tendency to open the federal treasury to a thousand purposes, many admirable in their intentions but in which the proponents fail or do not care to see that with such beginnings many and more of the savings and the labor of our people."

The text of President Hoover's message the veterans loan bill follows:

To the house of representatives:

I return herewith, without my approval, H. R. 17054, "An act to increase the loan basis of adjusted service certificates." In order that it may be clearly understood I may review that the Adjusted Compensation Act (Bonus Bill) passed on May 12, 1924, awarded to 4,388,000 veterans approximately $1,255,000,000 further compensation for war service. To this sum was added 25 per cent, said to be for consideration for deferring the payment until about 1945, the whole bearing 4 per cent compound interest. Immediate payment to dependents upon death was included, thus creating an endowment insurance policy represented by a certificate to each veteran showing the sum payable at the end of the period—the "face value." The total "face value" of the outstanding certificates today.

After paying the sums due to less than $50 and payments in full to dependents is $2,428,000,000 held by 3,227,000 veterans, or an average of about $1,000 each.

Imposes Heavy Burden

The burden upon the country was to be an amount each year sufficient as a yearly premium to provide for the payment of the "face value" of these certificates in about 1945, and to date has involved an appropriation average of $112,000,000 per annum. The accumulation of these

Hearings Ended In Alleged Attempt To Bribe Badger Senator

RESULTS TO BE REPORTED TO UPPER HOUSE

Raihle Tells of Payment to Minister—Smith Repeats Earlier Testimony

Madison—(P)—After taking the testimony of four witnesses, the senate committee investigating Gov. La Follette's charges that an attempt has been made to bribe Sen. F. J. Smith, Eau Claire, in connection with public utility legislation, concluded hearings last night.

The committee, consisting of Senators Walter Goodland, Racine, chairman; Eugene Clifford, Juneau, and Herman Severson, Iowa, will now submit its report and recommendations to the senate.

On being questioned by Daniel Grady, special counsel for the committee, former Assemblyman Paul Raihle, Chippewa Falls, local counsel for the Elyshesby Corporation, testified that he had kept $500 in a strong box before paying part of it to former Assemblyman Ethan B. Manier, New Richmond. The $500 was received in cash from W. J. Hagenah, vice president of the Elyshesby company, and was intended as payment for any legislative work that Manier might do.

It was revealed that $400 was paid during the day before the legislative convention. Raihle said he kept the money in a strong box because he knew he was going to pay it to Manier within a short time after it had been received from Mr. Hagenah. Attorney Grady sought to show that this was an unusual transaction, that it was the only time Raihle had ever been paid money by Hagenah in cash.

Promised Salary Boost
Sen. Smith on the witness stand reiterated that Raihle, during a visit to the former's room here Feb. 4, had promised him a boost in salary if the power bills were defeated. He quoted Raihle as saying:

"There is no doubt in my mind that if bills S9 and 108 are defeated that you will get as much as the other senators."

The difference between Sen. Smith's salary and that of the new senators is $1,900. The holdover senators could not legally draw the increased compensation voted by the 1929 legislature.

Robert Pack, Minneapolis, vice president of the Northern States Power company testified that he had employed Raihle to look after certain work in Chippewa and Eau Claire counties. Some time Raihle was paid by the Elyshesby Corporation and the change reported to the Northern States Power company, a subsidiary, Mr. Pack said.

Mr. Hagenah was the last witness during the hearing. He admitted paying Raihle $500 in cash for Minister but there was nothing unusual about the transaction and that the payment had been listed in a memorandum at his Chicago office. As at previous hearings of the committee, Attorney Grady and Thomas and Sen. Goodland entered a controversy over the form of the proceeding. At one point Attorney Thomas objected to a repetition of questions by Grady and asked the committee for a ruling.

"I wish," said Sen. Goodland, "that the examination be as brief as possible."

"I have been as brief," Attorney Grady interrupted.

"Now let me finish," was the senator's rejoinder. "I am the chairman of this committee and I want the proper respect from you."

Attorney Grady then said he had not meant to interrupt but that he had been as brief in his questions as possible.

Similar personal exchanges occurred between Grady and Thomas.

INSTALL THIRTY-TON DOOR AT STATE BANK

Crew of Men Works Two Days Moving Structure to Building

The 30-ton steel door for the new vault of the Appleton State bank has been installed after a crew of men worked several days moving and setting the enormous steel structure.

It took two days to move the door from the Chicago and Northwestern freight depot to its destination in the east of the bank building. From the depot to the alley on S. Superior at a half block south of W. College-ave, it was pulled over rollers by a huge truck, but after it reached this narrow point it was necessary to move it an inch at a time with jacks.

It was necessary to cut a large hole in the south side of the building adjoining the bank vault, to get the vault into position for installation.

Preliminary work was completed about a week ago. Many tons of steel and concrete were used in constructing the large structure.

Charles F. Wheeler, state building inspector, made several inspections in the city Wednesday and Thursday. He was assisted by John N. Welland, local inspector.

Try To Curb Blazing Well In Oklahoma

Wewoka, Okla.—(P)—A battle of titans began here today as two brothers of many unready monsters of the mid-continent oil fields sought to conquer a flaming deep rock gasser one mile south of town.

Fed by an estimated flow of 31,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily, since it caught fire Tuesday, the flames continued to spout 200 or more feet into the air, as the brothers—M. M. and Harry Kinley of Tulsa, strove to clear away the molten debris preparatory to firing a shot of nitroglycerine expected to snuff out the blaze. "The water hot meat would ignite the gas immediately."

A score or so of families living in the vicinity of the well packed their personal goods and prepared for evacuation should their homes be endangered.

Pressure from below and a vacuum at the mouth of the well caused by the flames, creates a clear space approximately the height of a man between the opening proper and the lowest level of the flames.

This clear space ordinarily permits asbestos-clad workmen to approach close enough to swing a cable and "nitro" into place before the terrific heat melts and burns equipment.

The shot, fired by electricity, was powerful blast lifting the flames, scattering the gas flow for the moment necessary to snuff out the fire. The Kinley brothers have never failed.

POOR EXPENSES RISE LAST MONTH

Increase of $1,000 Over January Reported in Expenditures

Poor department expenditures leaped to $4,766.23 during January, $1,000 more than in December, the monthly report of W. L. Lyons, poor commissioner, reveals. In December, 139 families were aided, in January the number was 163, in addition to the 21 inmates of the city home.

November expenditures were $2,430; October, $2,189, and September, $1,818.

Rent was the largest item last month, tripling the $525 rent expenditure of December. January had a hospital bill of $407, besides an expenditure of $328 for drugs, nurse, medical aid, ambulance and hospital supplies. One burial cost $124.

Fuel cost $992, of which $829 was spent in outside aid and $163 on the City Home. The board bill for the month was $133, groceries cost $611 and meats $40. School books, an item not hitherto found in the poor department report, cost $18.92. Shoes and clothing amounted to $30.

The total cost of outside aid was $3,935, while expenditures on the City Home were only $672. Credits received by the poor department during January totalled $214.

SENATE GIVES APPROVAL TO EUGENE MEYER

Overwhelming Support Given Nominee for Federal Reserve Governor

Washington—(P)—Eugene Meyer was free today to attend to the job he has held down for the past five months, without keeping an eye on the senate.

The senators, after session-long delay, yesterday confirmed overwhelmingly President Hoover's recess appointment of Meyer as governor of the Federal Reserve board. Only 11 voted against him, while he had the support of 72 and his friends did not deem it necessary to argue in his behalf. They allowed the group of opponents two entire days of debate before action was taken.

SENATE GIVES APPROVAL TO EUGENE MEYER

Overwhelming Support Given Nominee for Federal Reserve Governor

Washington—(P)—Eugene Meyer was free today to attend to the job he has held down for the past five months, without keeping an eye on the senate.

The senators, after session-long delay, yesterday confirmed overwhelmingly President Hoover's recess appointment of Meyer as governor of the Federal Reserve board. Only 11 voted against him, while he had the support of 72 and his friends did not deem it necessary to argue in his behalf. They allowed the group of opponents two entire days of debate before action was taken.

The long postponement of action on his name was caused chiefly by Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa. He had the nomination sent back to committee after it was reported with approval about two months ago. This was for an investigation of charges by Representative McFadden, Republican, Pennsylvania, that Meyer's appointment came through Wall-st influence, Meyer and others denied his and the name was again presented to the senate for action. Repeated delays were obtained then by Brookhart and other opponents of Meyer, among them Senator Frazier, Republican, North Dakota, who joined Brookhart in asserting the appointment would be harmful to the farmers.

Meyer came to the federal reserve from private life but with a lengthy career in the federal service in the background. He served on the war industries board, the war finance corporation and the federal farm loan board.

His record in the later task was assailed particularly by his senate foes. Four Republicans and seven Democrats voted against him.

Meyer assumed the board chairmanship on Sept. 16 last succeeding Roy A. Young, who resigned.

SCHLINTZ MEETS WITH KIWANIS CLUB HEADS

Harvey Schlintz, president of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, met with officials of the Kiwanis club at Conway hotel Wednesday afternoon and discussed plans for the annual state convention of Kiwanis clubs here next summer. Tentative plans were outlined.

PLAN PUBLIC HEARING

A public hearing on the junk ordinance will be held at city hall at 7:30 Thursday evening. The ordinance has been revised since the last hearing.

ASKS EXTENSION OF DATE FOR LICENSES

Madison—(P)—A proposal that the final date on which automobiles must be registered and licensed be extended from March 15 to May 1 was made by Sen. George Blanchard, Edgerton, who appeared before the joint committee on highways at its meeting here yesterday.

Sen. Blanchard explained that his proposal would offer relief during the present depression. He cited the large numbers of motorists who still are using 1930 license plates on their cars.

The secretary of state has given assurance that the state finances would not be affected by the proposed change, Sen. Blanchard said. He also proposed elimination of the $2 fee offered to any persons notifying an officer of a violator of the state license plate law.

POLICE WILL USE "PROWLER" CAR IN NIGHT PATROL WORK

The new police car, a small roadster, has been delivered to the department. It will be placed in use next week, according to the police and fire commission, on whose recommendation the common council purchased the machine. The car will be used as a "prowler" to patrol the outlying districts of the city from 9 o'clock each night until 6 o'clock in the morning. The commission believes that the addition of this equipment will furnish more protection for the entire city. The regular patrol system will be continued as usual.

START BUILDING "ECONOMY" HOUSE

Structure to Be Erected to Prove that Cost of Materials Are Low

In an effort to educate Appleton residents with the fact that homes can now be constructed at less cost than at any time in the last 10 or more years, the Standard Manufacturing Co. is erecting an "economy house" at 222 E. Winnebago-st. When completed it will be open for public inspection.

Construction work is advancing rapidly, according to Elmer Root of the manufacturing company. The basement has been completed, and carpenters have reached the second floor.

"Few people realize that 1931 is the year to build homes," Mr. Root said. "Labor is plentiful, materials are selling at prices from 5 to 15 per cent lower than usual, and money is easy."

The home is not to be an elaborate structure, but it is to be a modern residence with all labor saving devices and conveniences, according to Mr. Root.

TRANSFERS TO BE HONORED BY BUS COMPANIES

Hearing Before Railroad Commission Ends in Agreement

Like a pricked soap-bubble the bus transfer hearing before the Wisconsin railroad commission at city hall this morning faded into nothingness when it was discovered that both bus companies were on the same side of the fence.

A. K. Ellis of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company ended the hearing, applied for by the Fifth Ward voters club with the statement that his company will honor transfers from the Fox River Bus company. Ole Lundquist of the latter company agreed to the same arrangement.

R. C. Breitung, who appeared for the Fifth Ward Voters club, criticized the time of the hearing, saying that most of the parties interested in the problem are working during the daytime, and therefore unable to attend. Andrew MacDonald, commissioner, explained that the commission accommodates the public to the point of bringing the hearing to the city concerned, and that it could not be responsible for the attendance at the meeting.

Mr. Swistun, Phillip Vogt, Sixth ward alderman, and George P. Miller, W. Elise-st., explained to the commission that without transfers persons from the northwest section of the city are forced to pay double fare to get to the south and southeast sections of the city. They advised transfers between the two lines at Lawe-st and College-ave and Oneida-st and College-ave.

The commissioner told the two companies to reach an arrangement for bus transfers, and gave them the privilege of bringing to the commission any financial problems connected with the plan.

LONDON DETECTIVES FACE REFORM WAVE

London—(P)—Scotland Yard's Criminal Investigation Department—the famous C. I. D. of many a detective thriller—is going to be given a fresh start.

Draastic changes in its organization are thought necessary because the C. I. D. has not been maintaining its high standard of captures.

The new scheme, it is reported, plans to make the detective's career a matter of skill rather than mere length of service. Under present conditions the officer in uniform has a better chance of reaching high rank than the plain-clothed detective.

Returns from Annual Conference of Fraternal Congress in Chicago

G. D. Ziegler, president of the Aid Association for Lutherans, was elected president of the Interstate Fraternal Juvenile association at a meeting held in conjunction with the annual session of the Fraternal Congress of America at Sherman hotel, Chicago, Tuesday.

A. O. Benz, vice president of the A. A. L. Albert Voeks, secretary, and B. E. Mayerhoff, field representative, also attended the conference.

Mr. Ziegler also was elected vice president of the Wisconsin Fraternal Congress, which held a separate meeting in conjunction with the national conference. Approximately 200 men attended the three day session.

Auto Deaths Increase Rapidly In Wisconsin

Madison—Had Wisconsin's death rate from tuberculosis followed her auto accident toll since 1912, the 1930 tuberculosis death list would have numbered 88,575 souls instead of 1,490, according to the Committee on Public Health of the State Medical Society of Wisconsin.

The state's auto accident deaths have been recorded as such since 1912. In that year 21 deaths from auto accidents were reported, and in not one of the 18 subsequent years has a decrease been recorded from the toll of the preceding year, while the annual death list reached the appalling figure of 790 last year.

In 1912 Wisconsin suffered 2,362 deaths from tuberculosis, while the auto, still in its infancy, was causing the 21 state deaths. Last year but 1,490 deaths from tuberculosis were reported, and in all but seven years since 1912 new low records in this toll were established.

While last year's tuberculosis toll marked a decrease of three-eighths from the 1912 figure, the State Board of Health points out, the 1930 auto accident deaths were more than 27 times greater than those of 1912.

"If this terrible increase had occurred under the head of some recognized disease," the board's statement reads, "public protest would not cease until the medical profession had mastered the situation. The speed mania appears to be as much of a disease as any recognized ailment, but its cure must come from the public itself rather than from any effort, no matter how great, that our public health agencies or the medical profession can contribute."

Pittsburgh, Pa.—(P)—J. W. Auren, an engineer of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, leaped from the ninth floor of the company's office building in East Pittsburgh and was injured fatally today. He fell through the top of an unoccupied automobile. He was about 58 years old. Police did not learn the season for his act. He is survived by his widow.

County Agricultural Agent Gustav A. Sell's Answer To The Anonymous Advertisement Which Appeared In The Appleton Post-Crescent Tuesday Night Feb. 17, 1931

Authorized By Carl Bauernfiend An Employee of the Hopfensperger Bros. Inc.

UNAUTHORIZED USE OF LETTER

Editor Post-Crescent: Since the ANONYMOUS ADVERTISEMENT in Tuesday night's paper quoting me has been misconstrued and misunderstood I wish you would publish the following statements to square my relation to it.

I did not sponsor this advertisement, nor did I even have any knowledge of its coming out. In other words I had nothing whatever to do with it.

My statements quoted in this advertisement were made several months ago in answer to the question, "What portion of the cattle in this territory are beef cattle raised strictly for slaughter purposes?" They are substantially correct to-day as then if properly used. BUT MISUSED AS THEY HAVE BEEN WITH-OUT MY SPECIFIC AUTHORIZATION THERE IS CAST UPON THEM BY THE SPONSOR OF THIS ADVERTISEMENT A WRONG INTERPRETATION, AND UPON ME THE IMPLICATION THAT I AM OPPOSED TO HOME SLAUGHTERING. SUCH AN IMPLICATION IS ABSOLUTELY FALSE AND UNJUST TO ME, TO OUR LOCAL LIVESTOCK PRODUCERS, AND TO OUR LOCAL MEAT RETAILERS.

When I say that my statements were used in this anonymous advertisement without my knowledge or specific authorization I mean just exactly what I say. The only time I gave permission to use these statements in the press was a few days after I had made them in writing "for the purpose of local debate" to a representative of a prominent local meat retailer. This man called me on the phone and asked whether I minded their being used in the paper, the inference naturally being that it would be in connection with a news story on said debate. With that understanding (and I believe with specific instruction that its use be in that connection) I willingly granted the request.

THE MISUSE AND ABUSE OF THIS PRIVILEGE comes not so much in holding it over so long and not giving the exact relationship of its original intent, but in the timing and placing of this advertisement quoting me. To be specific, I mean quoting me in this big display advertisement on the day following the appearance of a very prominent advertisement by a central packing house disparaging the use of home slaughtered meats.

Other retailers and livestock producers naturally jump at the conclusion that I am being quoted willingly as an agricultural authority by inference as also disparaging home slaughtering. This is as far from the truth as black is from white. But it certainly seems that the author and sponsor of this anonymous advertisement hoped and intended to create such an impression or he would have timed it right the day after said packer ad, more than two months after said debate for which this information was given. Not only I, but livestock producers generally will hold such a belief until proper disclaimer is made publicly.

AS A MATTER OF FACT, I AM ABSOLUTELY NEUTRAL ON THE ISSUE SUGGESTED. PACKER SLAUGHTERED GOVERNMENT INSPECTED MEATS AND HOME SLAUGHTERED HOME INSPECTED MEATS BOTH CAN BE AND ARE OF GOOD QUALITY AND HEALTHFULNESS. WHETHER THE CONSUMERS HEALTH IS PROPERLY SAFEGUARDED AND WHETHER HE GETS THE QUALITY HE THINKS HE IS AND PAYS FOR DEPENDS LARGELY UPON THE CHARACTER AND INTEGRITY OF HIS MEAT DEALER.

GUSTAV A. SELL,
County Agricultural Agent

I feel in justice to myself and to the Farmers, more publicity should be given Mr. Sell's letter which appeared in the People's Forum of the Appleton Post-Crescent on Monday, Feb. 23, and which we have reprinted above. We buy everything we can from the Farms. All of the Veal, considerable of the Pork, Lamb, and Beef are our own slaughtering;—and I honestly believe there is not a market in this city that does not buy from the Farms part of their needs. We have been doing this for 45 years with no casualties. The Farmers are having hard enough sledding without putting a ban, even though it is imaginary, on them. We are for them, and always will buy direct from them everything that we feel will meet our needs.

SIX STREETS MENTIONED IN PAVING PLANS

River-dr., Verbrick and Ida-sts Reasonably Certain of Improvement

Appleton's tentative paving for this summer includes River-dr., Verbrick-st., Summer-st. South River-st., Ida-st. and S. Oneida-st., plans ordered by the common council show. The city engineer, L. M. Schindler, is now preparing plans and specifications for these streets.

It is reasonably certain that River-dr., Verbrick-st. and Ida-st. will be paved. Decision on South River-st., and S. Oneida-st., will probably be made soon, as petitions for and against the proposed improvements were circulated at a meeting of Fourth ward property owners Tuesday night.

At the last council meeting a petition protesting the widening of Appleton-st., was honored, thus killing any plans for an improvement of that street this summer. At the same meeting property holders on Summer-st. filed a petition objecting to the paving of that street this spring.

City officials urge all property owners who want gas or water mains installed this summer to present their requests now, either to aldermen or the council as a whole. Early petitions for gas and water will greatly facilitate the planning of the summer's program of work, and make it possible to figure, closely enough to stay within the budget. To avoid an overdraft in the paving and improvement department of the budget, those streets most in need of attention will be handled first and the others deferred, if necessary.

URGE MOTORISTS TO SECURE LICENSES

Another warning has been issued by the police department to motorists regarding 1931 licenses. Police Chief George T. Prim pointed out that little more than two weeks remain for motorists to make applications, as March 15 is the final date. Those who do not have their new licenses by that date, the chief said, will be subject to arrest. Appleton police officers are to be instructed to enforce the law as soon as the final date has passed.

British Rulers Well, Thank You

Appearing in the best of health, King George and Queen Mary of England are shown above in a recent portrait made in their private apartments at historic Windsor Castle. Court physicians have reported that the physical condition of King George, who has been subject to pulmonary afflictions in recent years, has been unaffected by the ravages of a severe winter in England. Both have been eagerly following the progress of their sons, the Prince of Wales and Prince George, now on a good-will tour through Latin America.

WOULD PAY $5,000 EACH FOR LOSS OF 3 LIVES

Washington (AP)—On a summer afternoon in 1919 an army airplane fell to earth in Baltimore, fatally injuring three children and hurting six others. Today a bill to pay $5,000 damages for the loss of each life was sent to the senate with unanimous approval by the house.

The pilot was making a landing in Patterson field. When he realized he was in danger of striking a fence, he attempted to take the air again, but the engine did not pick up. One wing of the ship struck the fence—and the children standing on it. Beneficiaries of the bill are Frank and Barbara Michel, who lost their son, Lawrence; Sophia Mary Klima, a widow, whose daughter, Elsie, died after the accident; and Katie Kroart, widow, who lost her boy, William.

MARCH 16 FINAL DATE FOR FILING INCOME RETURNS

Extra Day of Grace Allowed Because March 15 Falls on Sunday

With March 15, the usual close of the income tax filing period, falling on Sunday this year, an additional day of grace will be allowed taxpayers, a report from the bureau of internal revenue indicates. However, filing early is of mutual benefit to the government and the taxpayer, especially if the latter is in need of aid in making out his return, and it is hoped that few persons will take advantage of the extra day.

Forms for filing returns have been sent to persons who filed returns last year. Failure to receive a form, however, does not relieve a person of his obligation to file a return within the time prescribed by law. Forms may be obtained upon request, written or personal, at offices of collectors of internal revenue or deputy collectors. Persons in this vicinity can secure blanks at city hall now.

Persons whose net income was derived chiefly from salary and wages and was not in excess of $5,000 should make their returns on Form 1040A. Persons whose net income was derived from a business or profession, including farming, or from the sale of property, although the amount was less than $5,000, are required to use the larger form—1040. The use of form 1040 is required also where the net income was in excess of $5,000, regardless of whether from salary, business, profession or other sources.

WARM BATH URGED FOR CHILLED SPRING LAMBS

Ames, Ia.—(AP)—During the cold weather early spring lambs chilled at birth may be revived if immersed, all but the head, in warm water. J. C. Holbert animal husbandman at Iowa State college, says the purpose of the bath is to invigorate blood circulation. To insure even temperature hot water should be added each time the bath cools until the lamb becomes somewhat lively.

Then, he says, the lamb should be wrapped in a large towel and rubbed briskly until dry, fed as soon as revived and put in a warm place to sleep. It should be returned to its mother as soon as possible to prevent her from disowning it.

Advance Preparations Make Angling Enjoyable

BY B. A. CLAFLIN

Every moment spent in the sport of angling may be one of pleasure if advance preparations are properly made and if one fishes for the love of it rather than for meat. Some like nothing but whipping a trout stream; others care nothing for that form of angling, preferring to use the short rod and cast for pike, bass or muskies. It matters little what one's propensities are, so long as he gratifies his personal likes in the matter.

There are certain kinds of angling which I prefer, yet I derive much pleasure from all—just so it is fishing. To my way of thinking nothing can quite equal the keen excitement of a day spent under perfect conditions on some water where the bass are plentiful and hungry. I don't think it matters much whether those bass are Small Mouths or Oswegos. Both are game to the finish of the battle, and they have the agility and power to test anyone's skill as an angler, depending, of course, largely on the tackle used.

Often we hear it said that to get real bass fishing one must go up into northern waters, away from the places haunted by the big army of anglers—perhaps away up into Canada, where isolation is sure to be found. But such is not the case. I have enjoyed some very fine bass fishing in the Green Lake region, where perhaps as many people visit every summer as at any one other spot in the state.

And those in on the know get plenty of these fish in the waters around Madison—Mendota and Monona lakes, for instance. That country being my home when a youngster I know it to be true, for in that region I learned how to fish. I mention these places to show that it is not at all necessary to idly dream of Canadian waters and then give up the idea because we cannot go away up there.

Now let me speak of Lake Puckaway, below Princeton. It contains many big Oswego bass. They make their home beneath the heavy carpeting of Lotus beds. Near where the Fox river leaves the lake are acres of this vegetation, and in this arena one can enjoy himself casting for the fighting Oswegos. But do not go there with the idea of using a fly rod—it is not meant for Puckaway.

On my last trip there I went with an angler from Princeton. We used stiff casting rods, lines of eighteen pound test and weedless green rubber frogs. I confess, when I first saw the solid unbroken masses of Lotus leaves, having apparently no openings, I was somewhat skeptical, but I was treated to a surprise.

About every third or fourth cast into the thick mass would result in an eruption of leaves and water actually startling. But invariably, the keen-eyed Oswego would get the frog and hook himself. When that occurred it was up to us to literally drag that fish out into open water where he could be landed, or of pulling our boat near to where the strike was made.

In my next article I shall tell you of some bass waters on the Menominee Reservation, and others in that region.

Interesting Primary Promised As 35 File Nomination Papers

22 CANDIDATES SEEK SEATS ON CITY COUNCIL

11 Aspirants in Field for County Board and Two for School Board

After stalling for over a month, the political campaign for the city council, when 35 sets of nomination papers were filed with Carl Becher, city clerk. All persons announced as candidates filed papers, and there was only one last-minute entrant—Jerry Callahan, 826 E. South River-st who was nominated for Fourth ward alderman.

The mess of political potage has more ingredients in it this spring than at any time in recent years. Each ward has at least three persons seeking a seat on the common council, and there are only two persons in the whole lineup. P. H. BODMER INQUEST TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

Plan to Learn Details of Accident in Which Man Was Fatally Injured

The inquest into the death of Anthony Bodmer, 51, 220 E. Atlantic-st, who died early yesterday of a skull fracture, probably will be held early next week, according to Dr. H. E. Ellisworth, coroner. Bodmer was injured during an alleged altercation in the yard in the rear of his home several weeks ago, no police reported. Marvin Ellis, 813 E. Atlantic-st, a son-in-law of Mrs. Bodmer and two Greenleaf men, William Farrington and Ed Nienhaus, were present. According to the story told to police, Farrington and Bodmer got into an argument and when Ellis tried to stop it, Bodmer slipped on some ice and fell to the ground, fracturing his skull.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 Friday morning from the Wichmann funeral home. Burial will be in Holy Cross cemetery at Kaukauna, with the Rev. M. A. Hauch of St. Therese church in charge of the services at the grave. The rosary will be said at 7:30 Thursday evening at the funeral home.

FINE FARMER $15 FOR ASSAULT AND BATTERY

Herbert Schroeder, town of Liberty, was fined $15 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning when he was found guilty of assault and battery. He was found guilty on a charge preferred by Max Rohloff, also of the town of Liberty. The judge dismissed a similar charge against Schroeder, preferred by Herman Magulski, another Liberty farmer. According to the evidence the three men were talking and Schroeder called Magulski a name. Magulski countered by striking Schroeder and Schroeder returned the blow, it was said. Rohloff stepped in and tried to stop the fight and Schroeder hit him. It was brought out in court.

CHARGE MAN BROKE TERMS OF PAROLE

John DeGoey, Kaukauna, recently paroled by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court when he pleaded guilty of non-support, was arrested this morning by an officer of the state board of control on a charge of violating his parole. An application will now be made by the officer for revocation of DeGoey's parole. If it is granted he will be sent to state prison at Waupun to serve the balance of a two-year term. In the meantime DeGoey is being held in the county jail.

Kiwanis Speaker

The new district governor of Kiwanis International, Paul E. Neverman of Marinette, addressed the Appleton club yesterday. He also conferred with the committee on plans for the next convention.

KIWANIS GOVERNOR CONFERS HERE ON CONVENTION PLANS

Budget Expenditures, Forget Receipts, Paul G. Neverman Asks

"Budget your expenditures and forget about receipts, you'll get plenty of help," Paul E. Neverman, Marinette, governor of the Upper Michigan-Wisconsin district of Kiwanis International, told Appleton club members Wednesday afternoon when he spoke at Conway hotel about the convention and aims of Kiwanis International.

Mr. Neverman's visit here was to confer with members of the convention executive committee and Kiwanis ladies on plans for the meeting here in August with about 800 persons present.

The district governor met with the Kiwanis club committee of Fred B. Schlitz, chairman, Herbert Satterstrom, A. G. Osterhaus, George Packard, Dr. John R. Denyes, Lewis C. Sleeper, and Walter T. Hughes late in the afternoon, having talked to Kiwanis ladies earlier about means of entertaining the 400 women expected here.

The visit was his first since becoming district governor Jan. 1. He complimented the Appleton club on the splendid induction ceremony yesterday in which seven new members were taken into the club and added praise for the club's many accomplishments.

Mr. Neverman compared activities of Appleton club and its membership with other district clubs, pointing out that the local organization is one of the most active and best equipped clubs in the state. He stressed the need for veteran members, but said that if the veteran members do not accomplish anything in the club, they should be dropped and new members obtained. The condition, Mr. Neverman said, is one many clubs in the district have noted and have failed to remedy. Stirring these clubs into activity is one of his main objects, the district governor said.

Picked For Leadership Kiwanians are picked for membership on their leadership ability, Mr. Neverman said. The next step in their training is fellowship and acquaintance with others until a mutual understanding is reached at which time they are best able to join in cooperative efforts and give up their own time to work in the service of others. Too many clubs and Kiwanians progress only as far as the mutual understanding and then fail to go further, Mr. Neverman said.

"Men of good credit in business, good citizens from the standpoint of their interest in city affairs and in their readiness to vote, and interested in fraternalism are types of men Kiwanis clubs should have if they are to carry out their aim of better business ethics and standards and mean anything when they think of the Kiwanis slogan of 'We Build.'"

Better relations between the farm and city and extensive work for the underprivileged child were two more objects of Kiwanis on which Mr. Neverman touched.

"Build the boy rather than mend the man," Mr. Neverman pleaded. He recounted how the Marinette club in the last few years has sent 63 children to Madison for treatments that resulted in improved health and better chances to become successful when older. The future depends on the boy who will become a man of sound health and body.

Most Guide Youth Recalling numerous instances of where proper handling of apparently incorrigible youth resulted in building fine young men, Mr. Neverman said that in this particular work Kiwanis International has challenged all district and local organizations to use every bit of personal service to accomplish something.

HOOVER'S VETO ASSAILS VETS' LOAN MEASURE

President Calls Bill "Unwise for Veterans and for People"

appropriations is represented by government obligations deposited in a reserve fund, which fund now amounts to about $750,000,000. A loan basis to certificate holders was established equal to 92 per cent of the reserve value of the certificates, such loans now in the sixth year being authorized to 22 1/2 per cent of the "face value."

When the Bonus act was passed it was upon the explicit understanding of the congress that the matter was closed and the government would not be called upon to make subsequent enlargements. It is now proposed to enlarge the loan rate to 50 per cent of the "face value," at a low rate of interest, thus imposing a potential cash outlay upon the government of about $1,700,000,000, if all veterans apply for loans, less about $390,000,000 already loaned. According to the administrator of veterans' affairs, the probable number of veterans who will avail themselves of the privilege under this bill require approximately $1,000,000. There not being a penny in the treasury to meet such a demand, the government must borrow this sum through the sale of the reserve fund securities together with further issues or we must need impose further taxation.

The sole appeal made or the reopening of the Bonus act is the claim that funds from the national treasury should be provided to veterans in distress as the result of the drought and business depression. There are veterans unemployed and in need today in common with many others of our people. These, like the others, are being provided the basic necessities of life by the devoted committees in those parts of the country affected by the depression or drought. The government and many employers are giving preference to veterans in employment. Their welfare is, and should be a matter of concern to our people. Inquiry indicates that such care is being given throughout the country, and it also indicates that the number of veterans in need of such relief is a minor percentage of the whole.

"Relief" Over-stressed The utility of this legislation as relief to those in distress is far less than has been disclosed. The popular assumption has been that as the certificates average $1,000 then each veteran can obtain $500 by way of a loan. But this is only an average, and more than one-half will receive less than that amount. In fact over 800,000 men will be able to borrow less than $200 and of these over 200,000 will be able to borrow only an average of $75. Furthermore there are 100,000 veterans whose certificates have been issued recently who under the proposed law will have no loan privilege until their certificates are two years old. It is therefore urgent in any event that local committees continue relief to veterans, but this legislation would lead such local committees and employers to assume that these veterans have been provided for by the federal treasury and thereby threatens them with greater hardships than before.

The breach of fundamental principle in this proposal is the requirement of the federal government to provide an enormous sum of money to a vast majority who are able to care for themselves and who are caring for themselves. Among those who would receive the proposed benefits are included 337,000 veterans and 400,000 dependents, who are already receiving some degree of allowance or support from the federal government. In addition to this, it provides equal benefits for scores of thousands of others who are in the income-tax paying class and for scores of thousands who are holding secure positions in the federal, state and local governments and in every profession and industry. I know that most of these men do not seek these privileges, they have no desire to be presented to the American people as beneficiaries by a burden put upon the whole people and I have many manifestations from veterans on whom the times are bearing hard that they do not want to be represented to our people as a group substituting special privilege for the idealism and patriotism they have rejoiced in offering to their country through their service.

Should Aid Needy Vets It is suggested as a reason for making these provisions applicable to all veterans, that we should not make public distinction between veterans in need and the others who comprise the vast majority lest we characterize those deserving help as a pauper class. On the contrary, veterans in need are and should be preferred to the general citizenry, for the country would be proud to honor with its support. Adoption of the principle of aid to the rich or to those able to support themselves in itself sets up a group of special privilege among our citizens. The principle that the nation should give generous care to those veterans, who are ill, disabled, in need or in distress, even though these disabilities do not arise from the war, has been fully accepted by the nation. Pensions or allowances have been provided for the dependents of those who lost their lives in the war; allowances have been provided to those who suffered disabilities from the war; additional allowances were passed at the last session of congress to all the veterans who during power at any time may be permanently impaired by injury or illness; free hospitalization is available not only to those suffering from the results of war but to large numbers of temporarily ill. Together with a war-risk insurance and the adjusted compensation, these services now total an annual expenditure of approximately $600,000,000 and under existing laws will increase to $800,000,000 per annum in a very few years for world war veterans alone. A total of five thousand millions of dollars has been expended upon such services since the war.

Service Men's Stand Our country has thus shown its sense of obligation and generosity, and its readiness at all times to aid those of its veterans in need. I have the utmost confidence that our service men would be amongst the first to oppose a policy of government assistance to veterans who have property and means to support themselves, for service men are as devoted to the welfare of our country in peace as in war and as clearly foresee the future dangers of embarking on such a policy. It could but create resentments which would ultimately react against those who should be given care.

It is argued that the distribution of the hundreds of millions of dollars proposed by this bill would stimulate business generally. We can not further the restoration of prosperity by borrowing from some of our people, pledging the credit of all the people, to loan to some of our people who are not in need of the money. If the exercise of these rights were limited to expenditure upon necessities only, there would be no stimulation of business. The theory of stimulation is based upon the anticipation of wasteful expenditure. It can be of no assistance in the return of real prosperity. If this argument of proponents is correct, we would make government loans to the whole people. Would increase Cost It is represented that this measure merely provides loans against a future obligation and that, therefore it will cost the American people nothing. That is an incomplete statement. A cost at once arises to the people in the form of proceeding by annual appropriation the government is forced to secure a huge sum by borrowing or otherwise, especially in the circumstances of today when we are compelled in the midst of depression to make other large borrowings to cover deficits and refunding operations. An increased rate of interest which the government must pay upon all long-term issues is inevitable. It imposes an additional burden of interest on the people which will extend to the whole term of such loans. Some cost arises to the people through the tendency to increase the interest rates which every state and municipality must as the rate which industry and business must pay. There is a cost to some one through the retardation of the speed of recovery of employment when government borrowings divert the savings of the people from their use by constructive industry and commerce. It imposes a gross charge upon the individual who loses such increased employment or continues unemployed. To the veteran this is a double loss.

When he has consumed the value of his certificate and has also lost the opportunity or greater earnings. There is a greater cost than all this: It is a step toward government aid to those who can help themselves. These direct or indirect burdens fall upon the people as a whole.

Need Tax Reduction The need of our people today is a decrease in the burden of taxes and unemployment, yet they (who include the veterans) are being steadily forced toward higher tax levels and lessened employment by such acts as this. We must not forget the millions of hardworking families in our country who are striving to pay the debts which they have incurred in acquiring homes and farms in endeavor to build protection for their future. They, in the last analysis, must bear the burden of increasing government debt and taxes. It is the rich who suffer. When we take employment and taxes from our people it is the poor who suffer.

There is a very serious phase of this matter for the wives and children of veterans and to the future security of veterans themselves. Each of these certificates is an endowment insurance policy. Any money advanced against them, together with its interest, will be automatically deducted from the value of the certificates in case of death or upon maturity.

No one will deny that under the pressures or allurements of the moment, many will borrow against these certificates for other than absolutely necessary purposes. The loss to many families means the destruction of the one safeguard at their most critical time. It can not be contended that the interests of the families of our country are conserved by either cashing or borrowing upon their life insurance policies.

Points Out Dangers I have no desire to present monetary aspects of the question except so far as they affect the human aspects. Surely it is a human aspect to transfer to the backs of those who toil, including veterans, a burden of those who by position and property can care for themselves. It is a human aspect to incur the danger of continued or increased unemployment. It is a human aspect to create a burden on the children of protection by reckless use of an endowment policy. Our country is rich enough to do any justice. No country is rich enough to do an injustice.

The patriotism of our people is not a material thing. It is a spiritual thing. We can not pay for it with government aid. We can honor those in need by our aid. And it is a fundamental aspect of freedom among us that no citizen should be taken without burdening the nation with a privileged class who can care for themselves.

I regard the bill under consideration as unwise from the standpoint of the veterans themselves, and unwise from the standpoint of the welfare of all the people. The future of

As Capone Surrenders to Uncle Sam

These NEA Service pictures rushed to the Post-Crescent shows "Scarface" Al Capone as he sat for his most recent portrait in Chicago's detective bureau and as the well known "public enemy" left the detective bureau to appear for the first time before a Chicago trial judge. HOLD TWO MEN AFTER HEARING IN BADGER CASE

Pair Charged With Attempted Extortion Must Stand Trial

Charles Rickman, Jr., 36, and Robert Kissinger, 22 were bound over for trial at the next session of circuit court on charges of attempted extortion, following their preliminary hearings in municipal court at Stevens Point yesterday. Rickman and Kissinger live in the town of Amherst. Bonds were set at $500 each.

Only two witnesses were put on the stand by District Attorney John Meleski, Lester Laux and Irvin Fergan, both of Waupaca. Fergan is the complaining witness. He charged that Mrs. Rickman sat down on the davenport at the Rickman home in the town of Amherst Feb. 12, next to him, and that Rickman came into the house and demanded $5,000 from him. Fergan said he had come there to deliver a new car for which Rickman had bargained a few days before.

Before he left the home Fergan signed a statement agreeing to pay $500. Kissinger is said to have followed Fergan to Waupaca ostensibly to collect the money but Fergan arrived first and when Kissinger stepped into the office where the payment was to be made he was confronted by the Waupaca sheriff, Arthur Starck. Rickman and Kissinger made arrangements to secure bondsmen.

Laux is the employer of Fergan and was present when Kissinger was taken in charge by the Waupaca sheriff.

SPECIAL SESSION OF COURT DOES NOT HUSH KENTUCKY CASE

Louisville, Ky. —(AP)—Two state college executives, by payment through their attorney of $2 fines on amended charges, today had settled their accounts with the Louisville police court. The settlement, though made Tuesday, did not become publicly known until last night.

It all happened at a special session of police court conducted by Police Judge Fred Starck after regular court had adjourned and spectators and reporters had gone. Attorney W. L. Doolan, Sr., appearing for Dr. H. H. Cherry, president of Western Kentucky teachers college at Bowling Green and W. M. Pearce, director of the college's extension department, moved that charges be amended, which was granted and paid the fines.

Dr. Cherry's charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated was amended to violation of the boulevard stop regulation and Mr. Pearce's charge of drunkenness in a public place was amended to breach of peace. The charges were filed after a minor traffic collision here last Wednesday.

THREE INITIATED John Fergusson, the late Lucy Buckland Reeve was initiated into Beta Sigma Phi fraternity at an initiation service at the fraternity house on E. John-st Wednesday evening. James Gregory, Green Bay and Brown Calhoun, Fond du Lac, were also initiated.

Our World war veterans is inseparably bound up with the future of the whole people. The greatest service that we can render both veterans and the public generally is to administer the affairs of our government with a view to the well-being and happiness of all of the nation and to the safety of our country. The matter under consideration is of grave importance in itself; but of much greater importance is the whole tendency to open the federal treasury to a thousand purposes, many admirable in their intentions but in which the proponents fail or do not care to see that such beginnings many of them insidiously consume more and more of the savings and the labor of our people in aggregate than they threaten burdens beyond the ability of our country normally to bear; and, of far higher importance, each of them breaks the barriers of self-reliance and self-support in our people.

British Golfers Given New Dimes By Rockefeller

BY BETTY BURTON Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press. Ormond Beach, Fla.—(CPA)—Playing his daily five holes of golf on the course of the Ormond Beach Country club, John D. Rockefeller, in gray golf clothes, amber colored sun glasses and white linen hat, is the cynosure of all eyes here, especially those of the British golfers who are entered in the South Atlantic championship tournament for women which started Tuesday.

When Mr. Rockefeller, playing in a foursome, had driven off the third tee, one of the visiting players remarked: "he looks quite golfy." In better health than for the last seven years, it was apparent that Mr. Rockefeller was enjoying his stay. His approach slack from 75 yards to the fourth green put him in good position for his putt. So elated was he that it was not difficult for Jimmy Thomson, professional at Ormond Beach Country club, to persuade him to pose with Miss Diana Fishwick, Mrs. Bee Brindle and Miss Jessie Pirth, English golfers, for pictures.

Just before the shutter of the camera clicked, Mr. Rockefeller took an arm of Miss Fishwick on one side and of Mrs. Brindle on the other, and with a merry twinkle in his eye said in perfectly audible tones: "This and heaven, too." Then into his pocket went his gloved hand and came out with brand new dimes. To each of the three young women he gave two dimes, double the usual gift, and as he handed them the coins he said: "This one is for you and this for your dear mother."

Asked by the photographer to pose in the act of handing Mrs. Fishwick a dime, Mr. Rockefeller smiled, reached over and took one of the dimes he had given Miss Fishwick and hand it back to her again.

Survivors are the parents, one brother Donald; grandfathers, Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Delfosse, Larsen, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kroenke, Kimberly; and great grandfathers, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph LeCloux, Algoma.

EXPECT RULING TO END LEGAL DRY LAW FIGHT

Technicalities to Be Abandoned—Wets Strive for Repeal, Revision

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1931 by Post Pub. Co.)
Washington — (CPA) — Nobody here was surprised at the decision of the supreme court of the United States unanimously rejecting the idea advanced by Judge Clark that the eighteenth amendment had not been properly ratified.

But there is significance nevertheless in the fact that the decision sweeps away attempts to bring about a change in the prohibition status by legal subterfuge. The Wickert commission took its stand emphatically on the proposition that only a change in the wording of the eighteenth amendment itself, formally ratified as a new amendment, could change the present situation with respect to the distribution and sale of alcoholic beverages.

For a while the thought that by technicalities the eighteenth amendment could be nullified was a weapon of the wets but now they are advocating outright repeal or revision of the amendment. The decision of the supreme court corroborates the view that fundamental changes in the constitution itself afford the only method of basing altering prohibition as it exists today.

Airs Another Method — While the Clark opinion thus has been swept aside, the incident has given publicity to another method of proposing and ratifying constitutional amendments, namely by the action of a constitutional convention. This has been very little discussed at any time in American history, but it is recognized even by the supreme court of the United States as a legitimate method of amending the constitution. It is up to congress, however, to decide by two-thirds vote whether the method by ratification by state legislatures or by constitutional conventions shall be used. The supreme court lays down the rule that congress has final authority to decide on the method and that all the amendments heretofore adopted were properly ratified because congress did specify the exact method.

It is believed that the Clark case will be the last of the efforts to attack the validity of the eighteenth amendment. Several cases have been tried during the last decade but the supreme court has upheld the constitutionality of the amendment on every occasion. The fact that there

OFFER EVIDENCE IN TRIAL OF KIRKLAND

Valparaiso, Ind. — (AP) — With a blood-stained automobile cushion and a man's shirt, together with a pearl button, already placed before the court, the state continued today to present evidence against Virgil Kirkland, Gary high school athlete on trial for causing the death of his schoolmate, Arlene Draves.

The cushion, shirt and button were identified yesterday by Police Sergeant George Harris as articles taken from the automobile used by Kirkland, and four other youths, was no divided vote in the latest case and that the entire bench is recorded on the proposition is expected to dispose of any further discussion on technical points. Justice Roberts who rendered the decision spoke of the Clark ruling as a document in "political science" and contends that no matter how desirable it might be to ratify the constitution the choice of mode rests solely in the discretion of congress.

The dry are naturally pleased over the decision, while the wets realize that all their efforts hereafter will have to be concentrated on the merits of the eighteenth amendment rather than any ambiguities in the constitution or the laws of the Volstead act.

"So economical, too," says this N. Clark street woman

"I get such gleaming, snowy clothes from my washing machine! I simply use Rinsol, the hard-water soap. Its richer suds loosen dirt—get colored things brighter. It's such an economical soap, too, without softeners I get lots of creamy, lasting suds. They're marvelous suds for dishwashing and all cleaning."

RACINE POLICE ARE FREED OF MYSTERY GUEST FROM TEXAS

Racine — (AP) — Pretty, blonde Asperilla Grantello, 18, told the police desk sergeant Wednesday to "call me a taxi," he did, and the north side police station's weekend "mystery" guest left for the city limits. There, she said, she will attempt to pick up rides to Dennison, Texas, her home.

party dress, cold and hungry, Saturday. She was given the protection of two police station. She was unable or unwilling to tell how or why she came to Racine, but told police she was the "daughter of a Swede and a full-blooded Indian woman." She explained that her extremely blonde hair must be inherited from her father and her dark eyes from her mother. She said her two brothers in Dennison have the appearance of Indians.

Baffled as to what disposition to make of her case, police raised from welfare agencies enough money to serve her desire to leave Racine. She was unwilling to be seen walking from the station, so asked for a cab to take her to the city limits.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AT LAWRENCE

Physical education, in the sense that bodily development keeps pace with mental growth, is accorded its proper place in the ideal college program in the report of the special committee appointed to the study of conditions of athletics at Lawrence college. This committee emphatically declares that the department of physical education should be given the same rank and status as the other departments leading to academic degrees.

The committee in making this report, however, is only echoing the definite policy of President Wriston. In his conception of the place of athletics in the collegiate system he has placed at least equal emphasis upon the physical development of the individual student as upon purely inter-collegiate competitive sports. This attitude, we believe, reflects the modern trend of education and is in conformity with the ideas of most persons who have given thought to the matter.

Inter-collegiate athletic competition, we believe, should be incidental to and not the principal end of the physical education program of a school. While inter-collegiate sports have a definite value as an advertising medium and serve as an outlet for the natural exuberance of collegiate youth, they are of little consequence in the educational scheme as compared with a systematic physical training in which all the students participate.

The over-emphasis that has been placed upon inter-collegiate sports, especially football, by the great schools of the country is bound to result in a reaction. Already the impression has gone forth that the time and effort expended in training football teams, building stadiums and conducting the business affairs of these great athletic ventures is at the expense of other and more important phases of obtaining an education. In the long run those schools which maintain a sane athletic policy, in which the emphasis is upon physical training for all the students rather than upon athletic glory for a few will be the beneficiaries of public opinion and support.

Lawrence college, in maintaining a program for athletic competition with schools of its own class and in placing its program of physical education upon a basis comparable with the other departments of the school, is pursuing the proper course. While this may result in some criticism from those who evaluate a college on its athletic record, it has the approval of most persons interested in higher education. What is now being done at Lawrence soon will be the practice of all the worth-while schools of the country.

ENGLISH VS. AMERICAN ETHICS

T. I. Mardy Jones, labor member of the British Parliament, forfeited his seat in the House of Commons and a political career for the paltry sum of $11.97. Drawing the small salary of $2,000 per year and being extremely short of funds, he sent his wife and daughter railroad tickets which had been punched but never collected, in order that they might bring to London important papers which he needed. The fraud was discovered and he was brought before a court, convicted and fined with a raking statement from the judge that "this is a disgraceful case you are involved in." He is compelled to literally "go back to the mines," for he was a Welsh coal miner.

Respect for law is an inherent characteristic of the British people, yet one cannot help but have a feeling of pity for the outcome of this case. Particularly is this true when consideration is given to the recent disclosures as to the expense accounts of the senate committee headed by Senator Nye while investigating campaign funds. Was the Jones case so much different than that of Senator Nye and his associates when they turned in expense vouchers for week-end trips home from wherever the committee was holding its hearing at the moment? Was the use of two unused railroad tickets more disgraceful than the unnecessary spending of public funds by choosing national parks and southern golfing-centers as advantageous points from which to make investigations, or to travel and live on a more lavish scale while on public expense than if on their own?

Yet Mr. T. I. Mardy Jones, M. P., is out of a job while Senator Nye makes a speech on the floor of the senate protesting the unparalleled indignity of making public in the Congressional Record a complete statement of his committee's expense accounts.

FRANCO-ITALIAN RIVALRY

A serious problem confronting world disarmament plans is the continental rivalry now existing between France and Italy, which is being reflected in their naval construction plans, and which may affect the agreements as laid down between England, Japan and the United States at the London Naval conference.

Great effort was made at that time to bring France and Italy into agreement between themselves and with the other powers, but without success. Yet the treaty was signed between the other three governments with the hope that France and Italy would eventually come to an agreement and hold their naval construction within certain specified limits.

The naval construction plans for both countries in 1932 call for a trifle over 100,000 tons. Italy's program is further advanced than that of France, and at this time there is considerable discussion in the French Chamber of Deputies and the press urging that French construction plans be accelerated.

This situation is of serious concern to Great Britain, as her own program calls for the construction of only 46,000 tons. Mr. A. V. Alexander, first lord of the British admiralty, has announced to the house of commons that if France and Italy cannot be induced to adhere to the limitations as provided in the London treaty, she will have to reconsider her own program.

Intense rivalry has been developing between France and Italy. The end of the war found France in a commanding position on the continent, but the rise of the Mussolini government has developed in Italy a militaristic spirit which intends to challenge the supremacy of France. Italy demands naval parity to which France is not willing to accede. The New York Times is of the opinion that this rivalry is not even based on considerations of hard self-interest and that it is a question chiefly of paper prestige. This may be so but that does not make it any the less serious. Authentic information discloses, for instance, that there are five French army divisions on the Italian border.

This Franco-Italian rivalry must be curtailed or it will seriously affect all plans for disarmament. It is a job for real statesmen. Aristide Briand, with his plans for peace and a United States of Europe, could do very well towards laying the foundations for their acceptance, by using his great influence in France to stop this naval competition with Italy. And at the same time world opinion could have considerable weight in demanding that Mussolini give substantial evidence that his sword-rattling is something else than solely a display of dictatorial powers for home consumption.

Today's Anniversary

VICTOR HUGO'S BIRTH

On Feb. 26, 1802, Victor Hugo, the greatest French poet of his century, a distinguished dramatist, novelist, essayist and politician, was born at Besancon, France.

As a child he was taken in the train of his father, a French general, through southern France and finally into Spain, where his education was begun at Nobles' College, Madrid.

Hugo married a cousin in 1822. Four years later his tragedy "Cromwell" established him the leader of the romantic movement in literature. With the success of his "Ruy Blas" the French academy admitted Hugo to its membership.

To distract himself from the grief occasioned by the drowning of his daughter, Hugo plunged into politics. Created a peer in 1845, he sat in the Constituent Assembly of France. When he was banished from the country by Louis Napoleon, Hugo went to Brussels and London where he began his "Les Miserables," perhaps his greatest work.

He died in Paris at the age of 83.

Aimee Semple McPherson arrived in the Philippines today and was greeted by hymns sung in the Tagalog language. Even after that she had enough strength left to deliver a sermon. Personally we prefer banquets. But think of after-dinner speakers doing it in Tagalog.

Still, it might cut down the length of their speeches.

THE PARENT BUSINESS

When it comes to raising children I've a notion of my own. The parents of the youngsters should agree. If the mother says, "You may not!" in her most decided tone.

The answer of the father, "No!" should be. For no home can ever flourish or hold lasting happiness.

Where the father's "No" is canceled by a docting mother's "Yes."

Start it early and keep at it! Never venture to divide.

Even though you think the verdict may be wrong.

If you'd like to grant the pleasure which the mother has denied.

Let her be the one to say: "Well, run along!"

And, oh mother, if you think the dad a trifle too severe.

With the verdict he has given, do not rush to interfere.

There's disaster in the making when the parents disagree.

There is sorrow in the offing when a "no" is changed to "yes."

As the mother's head is nodded so the father's nod should be.

For the house that is divided cannot hope for much success.

And it's really very tragic, when a little girl or lad

Can wheedle out of mother what has been refused by Dad.

Oh, this job of being parents calls for courage and for tact.

And the sense to be untempted by a whim.

The mother by the father in her verdict must be backed.

And she must very often bolster him.

For what is right and proper how can children ever guess.

When the mother and the father can't agree on "no" and "yes?"

Personal Health Talks

PSYCHOLOGICAL TINKERING
OUR NATIONAL INDOOR PASTIME

The president of the National Educational Association, Dr. Willis A. Sutton, happens to be superintendent of schools in Atlanta. He has learned by experience that there is no such animal as a "bad boy." One of the hardest cases of "incurability" he encountered in his earlier years as a principal was that of a lad who, in physical examination, was found to have eleven infected or "abscessed" teeth and other silent defects. Proper medical and surgical treatment brought about a spiritual regeneration, and today this "incurable" or "delinquent" youth holds an important position in the engineering department of his state.

It does not follow from this one swallow that summer is here. You can't expect to make bad boys behave by pulling their teeth or hacking out their adenoids or feeding them vitamins. One swallow does not warrant any such sweeping conclusion. But a whole flock of swallows—

Dr. Sutton took this one boy as an example, from a class of 37 boys expelled from other high schools, and voluntarily taken into his own school. To make good students and eventually good citizens out of these delinquent youths, the doctor required the services of 18 physicians and five dentists in addition to the usual staff of high school teachers. Within 13 weeks he was able to send 27 of the boys back to their own schools, and the whole group went on and graduated from high school, 32 of them entering college.

Even so, there may have been a few bad eggs, morons, defectives, degenerates, or criminals, if you prefer, among the group. No one imagines that bad heredity can be remedied by medicine or surgery, and you are pretty certain to find a few unfortunate victims of a tainted inheritance among any group of 30 individuals selected at random.

How different is the lesson this great educator has drawn from the psychology hooey the public is bombarded with these days, too often under the disguise of if not under the actual sponsorship of education. Most of our latter day psychological experts—quacks of course, yet honored by educational organizations and officials—would deal with Dr. Sutton's class of bad boys by administering some kind of occult suggestion to eliminate their errant complexes or something, and depend on a toothbrush and a comb to take care of the poor teeth.

Dr. Sutton can fully describe his method in rather less space than his talk requires. The psychological mountebanks fill columns, pages, pamphlets, and books, women's clubs, teas and bureaus with their reports and descriptions, yet no body knows what they are driving at, though it all sounds so wonderful and so true while they are telling it.

The miniature golf craze was comparatively mild, even when it was at its peak. The fact that lasts and makes a good pin-money game for dilettantes and boudoirs is this popular barmyard psychology. Help yourself to a handful of the odd terms and phrases and try it on the offspring of your lower caste neighbors.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Belly Breathing
Your belly breathing stunt has cured me of indigestion. Also it finds it works like magic to produce sleep. (Mrs. R. D. F.)

Answer—And that ain't saying the half of it. It is excellent for those who suffer with cold feet, inability to get to sleep nights, high blood pressure, painful or irregular menstruation, asthma, and one thing or another. Send a stamped envelope bearing your address and say you'd like to be a B. E.

The Flaxseed Habit
I have given up all pills or other laxatives, and I now take just two tablespoonsful of flaxseed a day. That fixes me up all right. Had to pay 25 cents a pound for the flaxseed at first, until I bought a hundred pounds from a wholesale druggist. This will last me a little over four years. (T. S. D.)

Answer—Yeah? That is, if the bugs and worms do not discover it. I think we should have a law to prohibit the sale of more than four or five pounds of flaxseed to any one in a year. It is silly to keep taking flaxseed indefinitely, even if it is harmless. Four or five pounds ought to be more than enough to tide over the crisis while he is breaking the physic habit, and that's all I recommend flaxseed for. A Million Morons May Make Mistakes

If you claim cold cures are no good how come over a million people in the United States "used" a worthless nostrum last year? Are the million all wrong and you all right? (S. N.)

Answers—Only a million? Yet authorities say there are more than 25,000,000 morons in the United States.

Astringent Eye Drops
Is boracic acid good to use for eye drops for red eyes? If not can you suggest anything to help? (T. To-taler)

Answer—No. Boric acid is merely a feeble antiseptic that irritates the eye less than other antiseptics. Zinc sulphate is an astringent. You might use a drop of weak zinc sulphate solution in each eye once or twice a day for a few weeks. Such a solution is one grain of zinc sulphate in one ounce of boiled water. Many things cause red eyelids: or red eyeballs. Chronic arsenic poisoning, lesions in the nasal cavity, excess in drinking or smoking, occasionally uncorrected eye strain, are some of the causes.

The Tynymites

By Hal Cochran

THE Tynymites, on board the ship, enjoyed each moment of the trip. They met the friendly captain and he showed them all around. Up to his cabin they all went and there a half an hour was spent in looking over charts and maps that showed where they were bound.

The captain said, "Upon the shore of Africa you'll land, once more. The Travel Man has told me of the places you have been. It's heaps of fun to see the sights. I envy all you Tynymites. I'll bet when night time comes you're all tired out when you turn in."

"You bet we are," was Scotty said. "We're always glad to go to bed and dream about the things we've seen in traveling here and there. We've been in planes and hiked a lot and stopped at countries cold and hot. It seems that there is something new to thrill us, everywhere."

And then they all ran round on deck until each one was near a wreck. The Travel Man soon warned them they had better rest a while. The town of Inhambana was reached. The boat slowed down and whistles screeched. Then, as they scrambled to the shore, each Tyny spread a smile.

Right near the docks they hired a car cause to the next town was quite far. "We're going to Pretoria," the Travel Man explained. And so they rode for miles and more, all wondering what was in store. "I hope it's dandy," Clowdy said. The hope was not in vain.

The first thing that the Tynies spied within the town brought them a ride. It was an open street car and the Travel Man cried out, "Come on, let's ride and have some fun." And it was no sooner said than done. The whole bunch found out shortly what the town was all about.

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—When the good ship Mayflower burned at her dock in Philadelphia there was genuine sorrow in Washington.

Although she had departed from the Washington navy yards months ago, interest in the famous presidential yacht lingered in the minds of many in the capital. To a good-sized group, the Mayflower was just as much a part of Washington as the dome of the capitol or the Lincoln memorial.

For this craft, in the days when it conveyed presidents up and down the Potomac, was an object of great pride to the people in the capital. And to others as well, as any senator or congressman will tell you. "Constituents literally besieged their representatives here with requests to see it. Probably it was the most popular sight in Washington for these out-of-town visitors. Here is a story typical of the interest the Mayflower had for the common people."

Gets His Share
It was cleaning day when a tourist, armed with a letter from his congressman, appeared on the deck to look the yacht over. An officer approached and informed him that visitors were not allowed aboard that day.

The visitor refused to budge. He insisted that as a taxpayer he had a right to see the ship. The executive officer was called. But his arguments, too, were futile. Then the captain was summoned and told that all efforts to get the intruder off the boat had failed.

Walking over to a deck rail, the captain cut a sliver and handed it to the unwelcome visitor. "Now, my dear sir," he said, "I know that you are one of the some 90,000,000 owners of this boat. Here is your share. Good morning!"

Presidential Study
There were two especially attractive places on the Mayflower in the days when it was in the service of presidents.

One was the president's study. The hangings at the doorway were of a changeable blue-green taffeta, appropriately suggestive of sea waves. Silk cushions in a deep window seat carried the same color note.

The other was the No. 2 guest room, located on the port side. Here were twin beds in ivory white finish which have historical significance. They were the beds of the presidential suite on the U. S. S. George Washington, the liner used in 1913-19 by President and Mrs. Wilson on their trip to the peace conference at Paris.

These beds also were used by the King and Queen of the Belgians upon their visit to the United States shortly after the war.

A gold plank in the footboard of each tells its history.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—The two young sons of Dr. John B. Watson, the psychologist, have been hearing a lot about the late depression.

It seems that Dr. Watson, who studies behaviorism, had mentioned it around home. Home is an elegant Fifth avenue apartment.

The boys became alarmed. They suspected hard times had come to their family. They had an idea.

They gathered up all the newspapers they could find around the house and took them out to peddle on Fifth avenue. Knowing that it must take a lot of money to keep a psychologist's family properly behaving, they boosted the price a bit and were hawking their newspapers at 25 cents apiece when a policeman took charge.

He immediately escorted them home and rang the doorbell. The maid who answered, seeing the policeman, called Mrs. Watson. When the mother appeared, the cop said: "Lady, don't you know these boys can't sell papers without a license?"

Up From Acting

Owen Davis bows to only one author, Edgar Wallace, for Davis is America's most prolific playwright. He has written more than 300 plays, including the famous "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," and "Jobbound," which won the Pulitzer prize. He tells about it in his autobiography, "I'd Like To Do It Again."

Setting out on his own, he had to find a job in New York or starve, so he first became an actor in the company of Madame Janaschek. One day in Chicago she gave him a signed photograph of herself, led him to the door, kissed him on the forehead and said: "Young man—never again be an actor."

So Davis began turning out the melodramas that made his fortune before he turned to Better Things. He has always been sincere, he says. Even the priceless line of "Nellie" was gravely written.

In the first act the villain pushed Nellie under a descending elevator. In Act II he pushed her off the Brooklyn bridge. In the third he bound her to the tracks of the elevated railroad as a train came thundering along.

In the fourth act he climbed in Nellie's bedroom window, and when Nellie shrank away from him he looked at her reproachfully and said: "Why do you fear me, Nellie?"

Melodrama
Davis also reveals that one of his hit mellers, "The Marked Woman," was written on commission as a political play.

A Chinese republican had approached Al Woods with an offer to back financially a play showing up the old empress of China "as a sort of composite picture of all the evil characters of history."

Davis wrote the play, and all went well until one day his Chinese "angel" called on Woods and told him to close the play at once. Chinese tongs had threatened to kill the backers if it was performed after another week.

Woods was sorry, but his duty to the author prevented him from acceding to their demand. The next day the backers returned. The tong gentleman, they said, had slightly changed their plan and now proposed to kill Mr. Woods.

Woods was adamant until he began getting letters with death heads on them, and a telephone call informed him in broken English that if the "play" was performed once more "Woods' body would be found in the East River."

Woods still is in his office, near Broadway. The play was closed.

Barbs

"Prohibition," says Al Capone "has made nothing but trouble." Probably that is merely some of his dry humor.

"King Alfonso's Rule in Balance," says a headline. A rule which is doubtless measured by martial feet.

Charles Chaplin recently refused an offer of $50,000 to broadcast over the radio. One case where silence is not golden.

Volcanoes are said to be showing increased activity. Recovering from the period of depression probably.

United States farmers are charged with smuggling green vegetables into Canada. With the latent, perhaps, of making some fair exchanges.

Strangely enough, the wet bloc in Congress has nothing to do with the drought relief fund.

DOMESTIC BOND MARKET CAN'T START FORWARD

Something or Someone, It Seems, Is Always Taking Off Edge

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—Someone or something is always taking the edge off the domestic bond market. It had been set to go forward half a dozen times during the period of abnormally easy money when along came some unexpected and unfavorable episode to destroy its chances for taking part in the general recovery in securities. When dealers in investment issues now fear is that money rates will harden and the occasion for buying corporation bonds pass by after they have primed themselves and built up their selling organizations in anticipation of a broad market while interest rates were low and capital plentiful.

Just now it is the stock market and the return of the public to their speculative favorites that has dulled the interest in bonds. This is a competition that investment issues had throughout 1929 and from whose effects they were able to shake themselves free for only a short period in the early autumn of 1930. Then came the demoralized conditions in stocks, the closing of banks, the liquidation of bonds by other banks to place themselves in a strong cash position, and finally, as panicky a situation in high grade securities as in "equities."

Then Stocks Broaden
After this trial had been overcome and the bond market was again beginning to point upward the soldiers' compensation agitation broke out, unsettling the prices of government loans and checking the rise in corporation bonds. This, in turn, ceased to have much effect and it looked two weeks ago as though bonds might again come into to favor. Then the stock market broadened out and those who had been thinking about buying bonds turned their attention entirely to the stock market.

In December the amount of new financing was $395,000,000. In January it reached a total of $648,000,000. From present indications it will not be in excess of $175,000,000 this month. This is the smallest amount of new issues for February in some years. It represents the low ebb in the business of underwriting and distributing corporation bonds and preferred stocks. It is in part due, of course, to the unwillingness of dealers to take on additional issues in the face of the $100,000,000 of New York city 4 1/2 per cent bonds which are to be offered next week and the preliminary arrangements being made for refunding $1,100,000,000 of treasury notes that fall due on March 15.

Under normal conditions there have frequently been large issues of corporation bonds on the eve of loans pending by municipalities or by the government.

Public Indifferent
The hesitation now is more on account of the indifference of the investing public and the unwillingness of banks to buy bonds after their experience in showing a heavy depreciation on their portfolios last year, than in the competition with tax exempt issues. The popularity of stocks, however, is the influence that just now is taking away business from the houses and institutions that are set up primarily to buy new issues and distribute them to the public.

The balance sheets of many corporations as they are now being published show large amounts of cash and marketable securities. Out of these assets they are able to take care of the moderate financial requirements which a low ratio of production necessitates. For this reason there is less occasion for new borrowing and new bond issues than in other periods when cash was low and inventories were high.

Several large refunding operations by public utility companies have been postponed from time to time on account of the sluggishness of the bond market. It is now a question whether bankers will negotiate these loans on as satisfactory terms to the borrowers as would have been the case a few months ago. It is the general opinion that new issues came into the market too rapidly in January, with a fair portion of the $648,000,000 floated in that month still in original hands and necessitating a more complete distribution before the market is ready to absorb an additional and substantial amount of new offerings.

A LAUGH FOR EDWARD
Los Angeles—Edward A. Knight was held up here recently, but the holdup furnished one of the best laughs he has had for months. The robbers asked Knight for his valuables. Accidentally, while frisking Knight, the robber pulled the trigger of his gun. Out popped a cigarette. The robber fled and Knight laughed.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, or ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 10c, 30c and 60c.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. Adv. 215 E. Washington St. Appleton Phone 3538

Will One of These Be "First Lady"?

It's pretty early to be forecasting now, but one of these ladies may be the next mistress of the White House, since their husbands are already prominently mentioned as likely candidates for the Democratic and Republican presidential nominations in 1932. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, left, is the wife of New York's Democratic governor, while Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow is the wife of Senator Morrow of New Jersey, a leading Republican.

OTTOMANS WORRIED AS TOURISTS DECREASE

Istanbul—(P)—The dearth of American tourists is worrying bazaar merchants, tourist agencies and guides of Istanbul.

Turkish agencies estimate there was a 50 per cent decrease in Americans visiting Istanbul in 1930, against a 25 per cent drop in 1929.

Another such season, they say, and the famous old bazaars may have to close for lack of trade.

Tourists will come from Europe, but it is the drop in "real buyers," as the Turks call Americans, which has discouraged merchants of rugs, copper, silver, amber and silks.

California imports 55 per cent of the pork it consumes.

WISCONSIN RANKS NINTH IN NUMBER OF WATER WHEELS

State Has 3.5 Per Cent of Country's Total Capacity

BY RUBY A. BLACK
(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Wisconsin has changed its rank among all the states in the total capacity of water wheels in its water power plants from seventh place in 1921 when it had 4.2 per cent of the United States total to ninth place 10 years later with 3.5 per cent of the country's total capacity.

Wisconsin's record for the 10 years fluctuated somewhat, going as high as sixth once but never lower than ninth place. Its record shows it in sixth place in 1924 with 4.4 per cent of the total; seventh in 1925 with 4.1 per cent; eighth in 1926 and 1927 with 4 per cent each year; ninth in 1928 with 3.9 per cent; ninth in 1929 with 3.8 per cent; eighth in 1930 with 3.7 per cent; and ninth in 1931 with 3.5 per cent.

On Jan. 1, 1931, there were 177 water power plants of more than 100 horsepower in Wisconsin, with a total capacity of $18,277 horsepower. This is the largest number of plants and the greatest horsepower capacity of any of the five states classed as East North Central. The other states in the group with Wisconsin are Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan.

Of the total number of plants in Wisconsin, 168 were public utility and municipal with a total capacity of 368,828 horsepower; while the other 74 were manufacturing and miscellaneous plants with a capacity of 150,449 horsepower.

For the country as a whole, the total capacity of water wheels on Jan. 1, 1931, was 14,884,667 horsepower, an increase of 1,076,889 horsepower or 7.3 per cent during 1930. About 19 per cent of the country's water power is being utilized at the present time, and it is estimated that water wheels having a capacity of about $6,000,000 horsepower would be necessary to utilize all the water power of the United States.

New York, which ranked first in 1921, and California, which was second, have reversed their positions of a decade ago and California is now the highest ranking state in total capacity of its water wheels with 15.6 per cent of the United States total in 1931.

Aid Child In His Efforts To Advance

"I'm going to get a place on the team." "Each. You only think you are." "You just watch and see. I'm going to make the team and I don't mean maybe." "You only think you are. Why you can't even make the scrub." "No? Well you watch me. I'm going to make the team all right." And he did. He was underweight, butterfingers, a dud and a duffer, according to the various critics of the candidates that year, but he hung on and worked and insisted, "I'm going to make the team."

We are too ready to say "You only think so and so." There is no only about thinking. Thought is one of the most effective forces in the world. Once you harness your thought to a job that job is going to be done, and done exactly as you thought it. The trouble is that we do not know what we do think, most of the time. That is true of children always.

"I meant to do something else. I never meant to do that." When a boy or girl says that you can be sure that he, or she, does not understand what ideas are uppermost in mind. One does what he thinks of doing. You cannot think one way and act another. What you think, you are. What you think is bound to come out in your actions. To change your actions you must change your thought.

That is one of the most difficult things to get a child to understand. They believe what they say. They did not mean to lie. They did mean to study their lessons. Something happened that's all. "What big mean to come home right on time." It was not their fault that the supper was late, or the dance late in starting. They meant to work hard and get a promotion. Things just didn't break right for them. All of this they truly believe. Once get a child to understand that by setting his mind firmly in one direction the rest of him must follow, you get him to see dimly that he has a responsibility for his actions. Then growth starts.

This is the time when many children begin a new term in school. It is a good time to speak a word about this matter of thinking right. If the children are taught that they can, by setting their minds, keep on a better road, arrive at a finer goal, they will give it a trial.

Teach them to say, "If I can, I can," and by holding that thought in minds close out the idea of failure. Dwelling on the thought of success will impel them to the action that brings success. If they have formed an undesirable habit teach them to say, "I have quit, I have quit, and to keep on saying it while the temptation to take the old way beckons them.

Teach them to hold fast to good thoughts; to kindness, tolerance, gentleness, and strength. Help them to picture themselves as fine people, the sort they will be proud to know. Here worship is good for a child because it is a reflection of the law that forces us to become in fact what we are in imagination.

There is nothing ONLY about the past and the future. We must try to teach children to use it to their own good.

Mr. Patti will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamp, addressed envelope for reply.

It Is Said--

That the coming election or the early spring is making Mark Catlin as absent-minded as a college professor. Wednesday morning the local attorney was forced to dash into an adjoining office and borrow a necktie in order to appear at a court trial in respectable garb. Mark has no explanation to offer, but does not deny the fact that he forgot to wrap a necktie around his neck before he came to work yesterday morning.

That the "boys" at the postoffice are preparing a complete list of officials to take charge of the old church building purchased recently by Robert Rohm, town of Greenville, one of the rural mail carriers. When the postal workers heard Bob Rohm had bought the church they immediately decided to appoint "Chet" Riesenweber as pastor, "Arny" Fetting will play the organ, with John Freude supplying the wind. It was voted. Deacons have not yet been appointed. The group will select a name for the new church soon.

That Patsy, the little toy terrier owned by Carl Grien, 208 E. College-ave, is as clever as a circus dog. She digs her ball out of Mr. Grien's almost any distance or position. When the ball is thrown up into the air, Patsy jumps for it and turns a somersault on the way down. The dog can jump through hoops, walk on her hind legs, and beg very prettily.

If you use cocoa instead of chocolate in making chocolate candies, substitute three tablespoonsful of cocoa for each large square of chocolate. If the cocoa is used, add three-quarters of a tablespoonful of butter to make it as rich as when chocolate is used.

In repairing torn gloves, first buttonhole, in small stitches, round the entire edge of the slit, and then draw together the stitches, one by one, down the center. Repairing of this kind is very neat.

To bone a fish slip the knife under the rib bones near the head and slit down the entire length of the body cavity. Then cut down to the ridge of the backbone, taking care not to cut through the skin. Disconnect the backbone at the head and lift the bony framework-out of the fish.

MENTALLY GIFTED CHILD NEEDS SPECIAL CARE

Detroit —(P)—A warning that the "mentally gifted" child is as much a problem as the delinquent and needs special attention as much as any defective type found in the school room was given to school superintendents today by William John Cooper, United States commissioner of education.

The child showing an unusually high intelligence reaction, Dr. Cooper said, in addressing the annual convention of the National Education association, may become a "liability to the community." There are 1,500,000 such children in the schools of the nation he estimated, or about 200 for each 5,000 pupils.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugstore. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the gum-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

AS Mabeline Smith asked Corinne if she wanted to come with her as she congratulated Sybil Lester for having married Clifford Becker, Corinne drew back. "You don't congratulate the bride, just the bridegroom," she answered in a toneless voice, and wondered why she had answered at all. "Not in this case," Mabel laughed. "The man deserves pity. That girl's a viper. But she also deserves punishment, and she'll give it to him. Coming?"

Far, far down the street, out of sight now, Corinne knew Harry's car went rolling onward, while she stood, a little cold in the brisk air of early spring. Life was tangled and upset. Nothing mattered much. Harry believed her. . . . But he didn't love her.

"Yes, I'll go," she told Mabeline. But Mabeline's words were just a queer blur, and Sybil's surprised face was part of a picture, nothing more.

"But I'm not married to Clifford Becker," Corinne heard Sybil's voice. "Where in the world did you get that idea?"

"From him," Mabel answered. "And since Corinne Merryman is part of the family, I brought her along to help me congratulate you. I have a half interest of my own in the man."

"I see," Sybil nodded. "Well, he played the wrong card. Too bad. I'm very busy. . . ." But her eyes were restless and strange, Corinne noticed.

That was the last thing she did know, for the next instant she sank to the ground, her face absurdly white, and small above the fur of her coat. The voice was going far off some place and she was conscious that she was drifting away. . . . she didn't know where or care where. Dimly she heard people talking, knew that she was being taken somewhere, but she was too tired to care. In some remote corner of her mind she hoped that she would never wake up again. . . . not have to keep carrying on. . . . making a red ball out of her courage and tossing it back and forth so the world wouldn't guess how lonely life could be. . . . Then she slipped into a black void.

When she opened her eyes again she was aware of something strangely familiar. She raised her head and then caught her breath. She was in her own room. A rose lamp spilled softened light across the crystal pans on the dressing table, and the crisp linen of scented sheets was cool and soothing.

"But how did I get here? What. . . what time is it?" she asked of the empty room. Almost at once a figure stirred in the hall, and the next instant Mabeline came in.

"Oh, I was so scared, I thought you would never wake up. The doctor said you had better be brought home. You just went to pieces. . . . nerves because of your father's trial, he guessed. And he gave you something to make you sleep. But you're better now, aren't you? I tried and tried to get your husband, but he was out. You're sure you're all right?"

"Fine!" She even managed to laugh. "I would do something crazy just when I shouldn't! But I've got to go home."

"Go home?" Mabeline's face was startled. "But isn't this. . . aren't you Harry Becker's wife?"

"Yes, of course. I was just excited," Corinne wondered how she could get rid of Mabel without telling anything. She had to be gone before Harry came.

"I've got to go back to town," she said slowly. "I'm well again, honestly. Will you go with me?"

NEXT: A meeting.

ASSEMBLY EXPRESSES POLICY ON U. W. GIFTS

MADISON.—(P)—By the adoption of a joint resolution, the assembly Wednesday placed itself on record as opposed to a policy permitting the University of Wisconsin to accept conditional money gifts from private and corporate sources.

The lower house adopted the resolution by a vote of 73 to 19. It now goes to the senate. Assemblyman Carlton Maue, Fond du Lac, is the author of the resolution.

The resolution does not preclude the acceptance of all gifts. Gifts are welcome "if such gifts stipulate they are to be used for building, scholarships, endowments, loans to students" or for research which will benefit the physical sciences. Funds which have any relation to public or governmental policy would be banned.

FEWER FAMILIES ASK FOR AID IN DETROIT

DETROIT.—(P)—From the vantage point of director of the public welfare department, which gives relief to Detroit's needy unemployed, Thomas E. Dolan says that the "low point of the depression has passed."

Dolan made the statement when he brought to the city council the encouraging news that during February the number of new applications for relief has been 50 per cent less than in January.

The sum of $2,117,922 was needed to carry the welfare department through February. This was the largest in the history of the city, comparing with $1,947,253 in January, when 48,235 families were aided.

The total cost for the fiscal year ending June 30 was estimated at $12,000,000.

The largest weekly relief granted any family is $10. The relief work done under Dolan's department is for families only, that for single men being handled through other agencies.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

Dear Virginia Vane: I wish to write my story for your column because I think it may help some foolish young wives who are making themselves and their husbands miserable through sheer nonsense. I have had the rather rare experience of seeing my heart's desire fulfilled twice and finding the second time that I had been a plain fool. To begin with I fell in love when I was twenty-three, with a man named Bob. I married him against my parents' wishes. They were very anxious for me to marry Dan who was older, wiser, wealthier and in many respects a more suitable match. But I married Bob and we settled down to domestic bliss. Things didn't go well with us at first. We were poor, I had to give up many of the little comforts to which I'd been accustomed. Bob was worried and moody. Dan used to come to see us a good deal in those days and somehow his presence used to make things worse. He was more cultured and charming than poor Bob could ever be. Also he seemed much more considerate of me because he was horrified that I should have to live in such circumstances. It wasn't long before I came to the conclusion I had ruined my life by marrying Bob. Dan seemed the unattainable ideal, the one perfect thing in the world which could never come true. I made a dream hero of him as many women do of the men they think they should have married. I loved him so devotedly that I couldn't bear to be anywhere near Bob who sensed after a while that I no longer cared. And then the incredible thing happened. Bob was killed in a motor accident, and although I felt all the natural grief over his death, still my hopes for the future were high. I had been given my big chance. I was permitted to start life over again, and this time I was sure I could not make a mistake.

A year and a half later I married Dan, and I can remember now wondering whether any girl in the world had ever been so fortunate as myself. I was radiantly happy. It seemed to me Providence had blessed me and I was alone. That was two years ago, and in those two years I have learned many things. I have learned that the man who is not married to you can afford to be much more considerate, tender and loving than your husband. I have learned that the perfect dream hero who seems so discontented young

YOUR NOSE IS IMPORTANT IN FACIAL BEAUTY

BY ALICIA HART
You should learn to know your nose for its full beauty value. No one nose holds absolute records for perfection. You may have a sassy, little up-tipped nose and, combined with a few freckles and wide-spaced eyes, it may be the loveliest nose in the world for you.

Big noses, moreover, are not always a handicap. There are many lovely women with noses quite a bit larger in proportion than their other features and it gives them a certain strength in their facial beauty.

If your nose is a size and shape that just makes you miserable, you can, of course, have it altered surgically. But it is an expensive operation, none but the best should do it, and it isn't a pleasant operation. Lots of times women worry about their noses when they are perfectly all right in shape, only happen to be of the shiny variety or inclined to redness which has nothing to do with the size.

When there are warts on the nose, they should be taken off. There is no excuse for these blemishes, since their removal is easily accomplished by experts and the expense negligible considering the results.

But when your nose is oily or inclined to shininess, to blackheads or enlarged pores, you must certainly should do something about it immediately. We have just taken up the subject of blackheads. The treatment of oily skin is persistent cleanliness. Wash it often with hot water and the finest of castile or other bland soap, or one of the soap substitutes. Do not rub hard, merely soap and rinse; and soap and rinse until the nose is clean. After washing and rinsing, use a good astringent. Finish off with powder, put on by a clean puff or a clean bit of absorbent cotton.

If your nose is red, that is another matter again. Redness may be caused by external or internal conditions and you may need physical care. Sluggish circulation, digestive disorders or the constant use of too hot beverages may cause your red nose. These are matters for the physician, not the beautician.

If your red nose comes from long exposure to cold, that can be remedied by shielding it with your muff, your hat or coat collar. If it is poor circulation, you might try a mild solution of alum water, alternating bathing your face in it with dashes of hot and cold water.

If it is mere shininess or oiliness that you suffer from, however, you can do much to improve it. Start with a good skin cream. You won't know your nose within a month, if you get its skin all nice and fine.

the conduct of the exchange for several months and has criticized it. Charles D. Hill, of the department said when he called the meeting here today that in the past secret meetings of the exchange members before the board opened determined the prices set. He claimed investigation has substantiated them.

"Only one style is offered. 'Cheese' is offered only by dealers. 'Quantities offered week after week are the same for the greater part of the year. 'The supposed buyers are the same parties week after week. 'They allegedly buy from the dealers who are the same parties week after week. 'The group that allegedly offers the cheese and the group that allegedly buys the cheese consists of a radically small number of individuals. Each Friday morning a dealer walks into the trading room and lists the amount of cheese he wishes to sell by writing on the blackboard opposite his name the number of boxes and the styles. Presently another dealer walks in and lists his bid. Almost invariably the number of boxes offered is 180, and the styles are the ones on which the market prices are based. No one else offers or bids, and when the secretary closes the board at the specified time, the transaction is completed, since articles of incorporation specify: 'All cheese listed and left on the bulletin board without protest shall be considered sold.' These prices are accepted as standards by dealers throughout the nation. The Plymouth exchange is the outgrowth of a number of cheese exchanges in Wisconsin where cheese was once bought and sold. AMERICAN POWER SERVICES CITIES IN TWELVE STATES

Firm Is Under Supervision of Electric Bond and Share Company

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright 1931, By Cons. Press
Editor's Note: This is the forty-first article of a series on the subject of public utilities, covering the principal operating and holding companies, giving their history, field of operations and an analysis of the capital structure. Mr. Hughes will discuss bonds as well as stocks but will present the facts without any attempt to recommend purchase or sale of specific securities.)

New York—One of the oldest and most conservatively managed public utility holding companies, American Power and Light serves communities in twelve states, with electric power and light accounting for 85 per cent of its business. The company is under supervision of Electric Bond and Share, and its securities are widely distributed. Funded indebtedness of the parent company consists of $45,810,300 in 6 per cent debentures maturing in 2016, and $5,000,000 in 6 per cent debentures maturing in 2022, originally issued by Southwestern Power and Light but now assumed by American Power and Light.

Each of these issues is attractive for income with a yield at recent market prices of upwards of 5 1/2 per cent. There are two issues of preferred stock, one $5 cumulative and one $5 non-cumulative, both of no par value. The latter known as Series "A", is at present paying only $4 annually on the unstamped certificates. On the stamped stock $5 is paid. On January 1, 1932, both the stamped and the unstamped $5 stock will receive $5 annually. Originally all of this $5 preferred was issued in exchange for Montana Power common, with the understanding that $2.50 was to be paid thereon up to December 31, 1928, then $3 to December 31, 1929, then $3.50 to December 31, 1930, then $4 to December 31, 1931 and $5 per share thereafter.

A banking syndicate acquired a block of the stock, however, and issued it with an agreement to pay thereon to pay the difference between the stipulated rate and $5 annually, until the time came when all the stock, stamped and unstamped, was to receive $5 alike. Better than 6 per cent is obtainable on both the $6 and the $5 stamped preferred. On the common the present dividend is $1 in cash and 4 per cent in common stock annually. In addition, special stock dividends of 10 per cent were declared in the closing months of the years 1929 and 1930. Whether that special stock dividend will be continued this year depends upon earnings. At this writing estimates of net available for the common stock for the full year 1930 are in the neighborhood of $3.50 a share.

The common has an active market on the New York Exchange and fluctuates over a wide range. The high in 1930 was 11 1/2 and the low was 3 1/2, with present quotations much nearer the low and the high point. Buyers on the outside for the electric and power industry, which, in turn, is dependent on general business conditions. All that can be said is that American Power and Light shares are fairly representative of that industry.

Lawrence College Senior Is Juegos Florales Queen

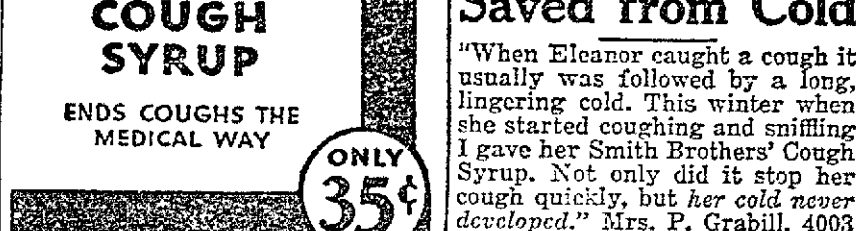

Miss Ellen Lewis, a senior at Lawrence college, was named queen of the fifth annual Juegos Florales presented at the Lawrence Memorial chapel Tuesday evening. The four maids of honor to the queen, chosen from among the high scholarship students of the Spanish department by the faculty were the Misses June Patterson, Dorothy Van Natta, Eleanor Briggs and Ruth Lechenski. The queen was crowned at beginning of the ceremony and presided over the celebration, which presented to the audience a typical Spanish program of court music.

Charles Turver received a book of Spanish poems for writing the best original poem in Spanish. He also will have his name engraved on a cup which he may keep until the Juegos Florales next year. A Spanish novel was presented to Walter Schultz for the best short essay in Spanish. Edwin Wenberg was awarded a Spanish translation of Stevenson's works for his translation of a Spanish poem, and Harris Venema received an original water-color for his prize winning English essay on Spanish art. The prizes, purchased by Miss Lorenz, head of the Spanish department at Lawrence, on a recent trip to Spain, are appropriate mementos of Spanish culture.

EAGLES STUDY RESOLUTION TO HELP JOBLESS

Appoint Committee to Review Stabilization of Employment Bill

The Appleton aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles is taking an active part in the nation organization's efforts to aid the unemployment situation through stabilization bills.

The local aerie has communicated with Congressman George J. Schneider and Senators John J. Blaine and Robert LaFollette at Washington, D. C., requesting their cooperation and support of the legislative measures.

A committee composed of Arthur Daellie, Peter Rademacher and Charles Schimpf was recently appointed to make a thorough study of the national aerie's resolution on stabilization of employment. The committee will report at the next meeting.

Following is the Eagle resolution: "Whereas, the happiness of the wage earning group and the economic stability of our country is based upon the right of every adult American to work continuously at a saving wage; and,

"Whereas, the frequent unemployment reduces the earnings and diminishes the savings of workers, thus affecting adversely the economic life of the country, and when general and continued for prolonged periods, bringing great unhappiness and physical suffering to millions of dependent women and children; and,

Unemployment Blamed
"Whereas, old age dependency is often traceable to such unemployment, with the almshouse as a dread final abode of its unfortunate and helpless victims; and,

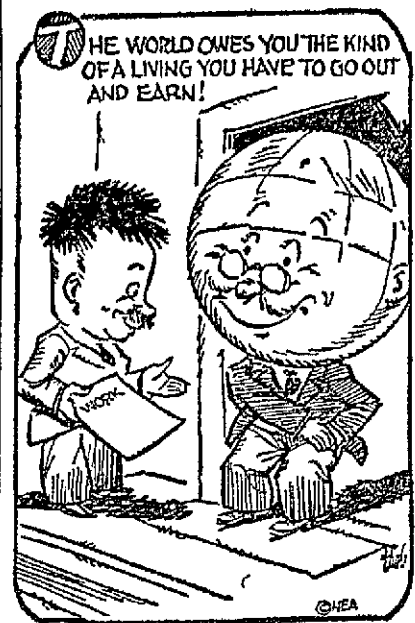

"Whereas, economic and political leaders recognize and deplore these facts and agree that frequent and seasonal unemployment must be substantially reduced if the happiness and prosperity of our people and the economic welfare of our country are to be assured; and,

"Whereas the members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles believe that the United States, with its unparalleled wealth, possesses business, political, and labor leaders capable of so reorganizing production and distribution as to reduce unemployment to a minimum; therefore, be it

"Resolved, that the Grand Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, authorizes and directs the Grand Worthy president to appoint a commission that shall draft, or have drafted, in the name of the order, a resolution whose statements shall be the basis of bills to be introduced in the senate of the United States and in the house of representatives providing for the creation of a Federal Industrial commission having all powers necessary to deal with the economic problems that underlie unemployment in any and all fields of industry, agriculture, and commerce, and be it further

"Resolved, that such Grand Aerie commission is hereby given full power to represent the Fraternal Order of Eagles, and is authorized to spend such moneys of the Grand Aerie as are necessary to carry out the intent of this resolution. The man-power, the means, and the influence of our order must be put, without reservation, back of this movement."

GREEN FACE POWDER LATEST, PARISIAN EXPERT DECLARES

Philadelphia — (AP) — Whoever coined the expression, "there's nothing new under the sun," apparently had not heard from Louis Clement, noted Parisian authority on women's styles.

Green face powder is the latest and newest, Clement said in addressing the annual convention of the Philadelphia Hairdressers association. Women of ruddy complexion should never use rouge, says M. Clement, hence a pale green powder has been compounded for them.

"And for evening use," he added, "under the shaded lights of the dinner table or ballroom, there is a shade of lavender calculated to improve the most charming woman."

LA FOLLETTE TO TALK ON RADIO PROGRAM

Milwaukee — (AP) — Although he will speak only briefly, Gov. Philip LaFollette will be featured on the weekly legislative program to be broadcast over WTMJ Saturday night at 6:30 o'clock.

Mrs. M. V. O'Shea, president of the Wisconsin League of Women Voters, will introduce the governor. Mrs. O. V. Fragstein, Menominee Falls, will be the other speaker on the program. Her subject is to be "How Wisconsin Pays Its Way," and she will discuss the principles underlying Wisconsin's present system of taxation and the changes proposed in the various taxation measure before the legislature.

The program Saturday night is one of a series of legislative programs put on by the league of women voters, under the title of "Thirty Minutes With Wisconsin Law Makers."

FINANCE MEETING
The chamber of commerce finance committee will meet at 1:30 Friday afternoon to review the financial status of the chamber. Reports will be given and plans for the coming month will be discussed.

Take Stock For More Attractive Gardens

The successful business man builds up his program of endeavor for a new year on the experiences of the year before. A check-up of records reveals the pitfalls to be avoided, and again brings to his attention those previous efforts which have proved so valuable and which it will be worth while to continue.

Gardening efforts can be checked up on somewhat the same basis, for it is only by stopping to "take stock" of the previous year's garden work that improvements and additions can be made to contribute their fullest measure of beauty and comfort to the outdoor living room.

As you look back over last year's gardening activities you will probably remember numerous changes that you wished to make this spring. The opportune time to plan for these alterations is now before spring opens for once the planting season opens you know what that means—each day a rush and bustle to crowd in every bit of planting possible—and there'll be no time then for making plans.

How about the flower borders? Did the color groupings work out all right or did some unexpected combinations result which will necessitate the moving of certain plants? Make a checkup now so the harmony of the border will not be marred again this year.

Take stock of the shrub plantings and notice where plants have outgrown the space allotted them and have begun to crowd their neighbors. Perhaps some of the shrubs are not doing very well and are destroying the unity of the border by their backward growth. It may be that they are not adapted to that position and would do better elsewhere, so they should be transferred and other varieties more suited to that location substituted.

As you take an inventory of the shrub plantings also notice whether the plants are placed in proper relation to their ultimate size and height. If tall varieties are hiding a smaller growing plant, or a dwarf shrub is planted where a taller kind would carry out the design more effectively, plan now to make such changes this spring.

If the dignity and balance of your garden plan is to be preserved, it will be impossible to grow all at once the many fine flowers and beautiful plants you enjoy. Therefore, as you take stock of your home grounds you will find that new plantings and rearrangements should really be a part of your gardening program each year.

Add These Desirable Shrubs

Among the shrubs there are several charming newcomers which will bring a note of distinction to your garden. Viburnum carlesii is covered with an abundance of rich green foliage throughout the season, but it is chosen most often for its delightful perfume that carries far on the soft spring air. When in bloom the shrub is a mass of white, delicately shaded with pink.

Korean Spirea (Spirea trichocarpa) is a broad spreading, compact bush that bears large clusters of clear white flowers. This new introduction is particularly effective for foundation plantings.

Another interesting shrub whose golden blossoms in November brighten the wintry garden is the Witch Hazel. The handsomest of the family is the Chinese variety (Hamamelis mollis) which gives interesting winter color to the outdoor living room, and in fall its dull blue-green leaves turn to pale yellow. Its Japanese cousin (Hamamelis japonica) dons an autumn gown of warm scarlet and orange shades which makes this variety conspicuous among other shrubs.

Other attractive shrubs which add a touch of the unusual to the garden are Cornus kousa, Eonymus (E. japonicus) which has peculiar corky bark and bears interesting red and orange berries, and the new Chinese introduction called Bush (Kolkwitzia amabilis), a graceful shrub with clear pink flowers. As you take stock of your garden make note of the places where some of these newer varieties may be introduced.

Check On Arrangement

No matter how beautiful the flowers, or luxuriant the foliage, if they have not been placed in artistic arrangement their real beauty and appeal is lost. As you take stock of the plants also take note of the design of your garden. Garden design consists of the proper relationship between the outdoor living room and the rooms indoors; the skillful distribution of masses; the thoughtful placing of interesting features, and the harmonious arrangement of flowers to create the most pleasing color effects. Perhaps it might be an improvement to change the position of an entire bed or border, or widen the walks, or add variety to the border by planting a few flowering trees or some evergreens.

Whatever the changes that you wish to make, or the additions you are eager to incorporate, don't pretend to yourself that you can remember them all until planting time comes. Make a diagram of the garden now and plan exactly what you wish to accomplish this spring. Such a plan will prevent needless errors and changes and you are sure of making only such alterations and additions as will enhance the original design.

PERSEVERANCE NEEDED TO SUCCEED—MORARITY

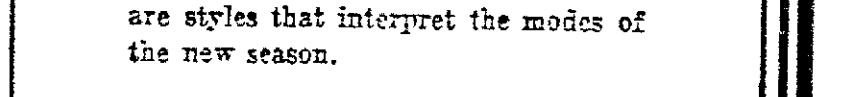

Appleton high school students listened to big league baseball experiences as told Wednesday morning by George Morarity, player, manager and umpire in the American league.

The thread of his speech illustrated the use of sportsmanship in every day life and the importance of education as a preparation for later years. He said that genius is not necessary for a person to succeed, but more important is perseverance. The emergencies of life will take care of themselves, he stated, if the student will rather for himself a thorough background of preparation.

Mr. Morarity began his major league playing in 1906 with the New York Americans. In 1908 he was traded to Detroit and played with the Detroit Tigers through 1915. He became manager of the Memphis team in the southern association the following year. He became an American league umpire in 1917 and has devoted himself to that work ever since with the exception of two years managing the Detroit American league team. He is known to baseball fans for his famous "Morarity steals home incident."

Mickey Walker Joins Heavy Contenders By Beating Johnny Risko

MIDDLE CHAMP WINS 6 ROUNDS, AKRON BAKER 4

Show Brings Only $38,000 but "Pa" Stripling Says It Netted Profit

BY ALAN GOULD
MAMI, FLA.—(AP)—They may have to move over later, if not this year to make room for Mickey Walker in the scramble for the world's heavyweight championship.

Less than six pounds over the limit for the middleweight class, in which he holds the world's title, Walker packed enough stamina and wallop in his 165 pounds last night to hand a convincing pasting to 194 pound Johnny Risko of Cleveland, somewhat battered reminder of the one time spoiler of heavyweight ambitions.

Walker won the unanimous verdict of three judges after ten slashing, bruising rounds of punishment. Mickey was held to close to even terms for the first eight rounds, due to Johnny's bull like charges and aggressive hammering, but Walker won the last two rounds by a wide margin. Risko was groggy in the ninth and tenth under Walker's vicious left hooks and right crosses to the chin. The Associated Press score-sheet gave Mickey six rounds and Risko four.

In time condition, Walker overcame his handicaps in weight and reach to demonstrate his ability to meet successfully in bigger company. He has not defended the middleweight crown in over a year and apparently intends to leave it on the shelf while he battles for a spot in the heavyweight picture.

Max Stripling Show
There's not much chance of his figuring in the big program for 1931, however. Before Walker fought the main go last night, Max Schmeling, the German who was bequeathing the heavyweight title by boxing authorities and his American challenger, Young Stripling, appeared in exhibitions. The winner of the Schmeling Stripling bout, in June, is slated to defend the title against Primo Carnera.

Carner was a spectator last night and is booked to meet Jimmy Malone of Boston here on March 5 in the "bait" of the "bait" show.

The bait show, the moon and the customers were mostly conspicuous by their absence last evening, although the show put on under the promotion of "Pa" Stripling was distinctly an artistic success. The box office checkup showed approximately 20,000 cash customers, and a gross gate receipts of $38,000. These figures were below expectations but sufficient, Stripling said, to show a profit. The arena, in being's boom times, was less than half full of fans who paid anywhere from $1 for a perch on the outer rim, to $10 for "patron press" chairs.

ORANGE OFFENSE IS 4TH BEST IN LOOP

Defensively Shieldsmen Have Had Only 80 Points Scored Against Them

Appleton high school basketball team with six wins to its credit and one defeat ranks fourth in team scoring in the loop but first in defensive strength. The Orange has scored 120 points compared to 134 for Oshkosh, 149 for Fond du Lac, 136 for Marinette but it has had only 80 points scored against it, less than 12 points a game.

Individual scoring records reveal that "Hot" Boyle of Fond du Lac is the best basket tosser in the valley with Wegner of Oshkosh in second place. The leading Appleton bucket getter is Bill Peotter who has sunk 11 field goals and 10 free throws for a total of 32 points. Norrell has connected for 23, Verrier 21, Collins 19, Rule 13 and Priebe 12.

WANT APPLETON TEAM AT VOLLEYBALL MEET

An open volleyball tournament for Class B teams from Wisconsin cities will be held at Beloit, April 4, and Appleton Y. M. C. A. has been asked to enter a squad. Class B teams are considered as aggregations from smaller cities in the state and second teams from the larger cities. Appleton's representative must be one of the association's reserve squads.

Glenn "Pop" Warner Is Considered Football's Greatest Strategist

BY RUSSELL J. NEVILL
PALO ALTO, CALIF.—(AP)—Glenn Scoley Warner, at 60, is one of football's greatest strategists. His teams have made gridiron history, but he thinks he should have stuck to baseball.

For it was baseball—not the game to which he has contributed so brilliantly—that gave him his greatest thrill. That came the time he caught his first ball game, at Springfield, N. Y., in the late eighties. He got two hits. Still insists the umpire gyped him out of a third.

The rules of football have been changed time and again because of his creative genius. He brought out the hidden ball trick in 1897. The backfield man stuck the ball up the back of his jersey. Rules were changed to meet the emergency. Then he served halves of cheap football on players' jerseys. More rule changes.

He introduced the football crouch. He gave the game the wing back formation, also the unbalanced back.

HUNDERTMARK WILL SHOW TUESDAY ON BAY FIGHT PROGRAM

Don DeLair, Joe Biebel, Peplinski Also Signed for Next Card

GREEN BAY — The complete card for the amateur boxing show to be staged at the Columbus club here March 2 has been arranged. It was announced today by Paddy McDonough, boxing instructor.

The show will provide six bouts between some of the outstanding young fighters of northern Wisconsin. It will be the fourth card of the winter season.

Cotter Not on Show
Only one disappointment marred the arrangements, McDonough said. No suitable opponent was available to fight Harold Cotter, popular Kaukauna lightweight, so he will not appear on the card. It had been planned to see Cotter against Martin Kraemer, of Sheboygan, but Kraemer already had signed to fight in Sheboygan the same week so is not available. Efforts to secure a good Milwaukee fighter to meet Cotter were unsuccessful as most of the Cream City battlers are appearing in the Golden Gloves tournament of that city.

Billy Hundertmark, Green Bay, who won over Cotter in a great fight here recently will appear on the card. He is in fine shape and ready for a fast bout. He will get plenty of opposition from the Sheboygan youth who is regarded as one of the best in the north.

Thomas-Biebel Mix
Lyman Thomas, of the Y. M. C. A. team will appear in the semi-final bout, fighting Joe "Biebel, flashy little Oshkosh battler.

Don DeLair, who made quite a hit here in his first start a few months ago, will appear in one of the preliminary bouts fighting John Kanup, Sheboygan, who hasn't lost a fight in six starts. Both have clean records as DeLair has three victories to his credit and a real battle should be in store for fans.

Leo Champeau, Green Bay, will fight E. Schueller, Kaukauna in another of the prelims. McDonough said, Champeau has won a number of fights here and has been coming along in fine shape. Leo Hirschman, Denmark, meets Cyril Peplinski, Pulaski, at 137 pounds and M. Christensen fights F. Beyers, Sheboygan, in the other two bouts. All these boys have appeared here before and have put up real fights.

MILLER CORDS PLAY KIMBERLY TONIGHT

Appleton and Village Pro Teams Clash at Clubhouse at 9 O'clock

Kimberly—Valley basketball fans will see plenty of action when the Miller Cords of Appleton clash with the Kimberly All Stars at the clubhouse tonight. The teams have played each other every year and it has gotten to be an annual affair. Just exactly who will win is not decided and undoubtedly will not be decided until the final minute has been played.

The Miller Cords play most of their games on three former Lawrence stars. During Tuesday's game in which the Cords easily trimmed the Packers the combination of Remmel and Slave at the forward berth and big Schneider at the post position seemed to solve the Cord offensive troubles. All three men are former students of Coach Art Dunne at Lawrence and are the valuable men on any man's basketball team. And with a pair of guards like "Dead Horse" Scheurle and "Baldy" Eggert basketball fans easily can see why the Appleton squad tripped some tough teams this season.

The Kimberly squad is playing its first year of pro basketball and with one of the best records of any amateur team in the state in previous years it is a worthy opponent of any of the local pro teams. Unlike most pro teams the Kimberly aggregation has all local boys who have been playing the game for number of years and can swap tricks with the best of them.

None of the boys has any varsity experience with any college team simply because none ever went to college.

APPLETON BEATS NEENAH QUINTET IN WILD BATTLE

Orange Leads 14 to 3 at Half; Rockets Rally and Nearly Cop

BY GORDON R. MCINTYRE
SOMETHING should be done about it, in fact something must be done about it—this business of making a sports writer sit through basketball games that leave him weak, ragged and almost a nervous wreck. One or two in a season is all right but when they come in groups, especially two in two nights, then something absolutely should be done about it.

Eventually we're going to tell the story of how Appleton high school beat Neenah high last night at Neenah, 21 and 20 but until then bide awhile and listen to the scribe's tale of woe.

Several times this season we've watched the Orange cagers in thrilling games, games that were won by generous use of free throws, by sensational shots in the last couple minutes or because some youngster took it upon himself to steal the game regardless. We've watched Lawrence teams win in thrillers, watched them lose in thrillers and of course we've been interested, mildly some times, and a little more so other times.

Tuesday evening we journeyed to Ripon and sat through a blood-thirsting fracas that was won by Lawrence in the last 15 seconds of play. When it was all over we shook with excitement and were barely able to whisper "Oh boy, watta game."

And then last night we had to watch the Neenah-Appleton game—Orange Takes Lead

The evening's session started tame enough. Appleton leading from the first whistle and at the half. Even in the third quarter things were calm but then the sky came down, the roof tumbled in and before it was all over the Neenah gym was a raving mad house with ten frantically youngsters battling for the ball in a corner, with two puffing, perspiring officials watching them with strong, reserved men from high school faculties throwing all reserve to the four winds and with high school students and supporters of the teams shrieking to the high heavens as they implored someone to make a basket or to stop someone else.

No foolin' it's things like that that make supposedly unpartisan sports scribes go home talking to themselves and gleaning through dictionaries to find words to describe the affair.

Picture Coach Shields standing on the edge of the floor holding his breath as Bill Peotter misses the easiest pot shot in the world, one that would have salted the game away for once and for all.

Then picture the Neenah players dashing down the floor, one of them dribbling the ball and five Orange jerseyed youths trying like madmen to stop him. The youngster passes the ball to another, he's free, no one to hinder him and the basket, hum. Pop's golf rules include talking, laughing, coughing and singing.

Try to hook him on a nuckle bet and he'll use virile language. But he gives away two and three hundred dollars at a time to needy friends.

He is a director in a bank here. When his associates want him for a heavy financial conference they usually have to root him out of the workshop. Owns several houses but is always forgetting to collect the rent. Is a football syndicate writer and writes his own copy. Hasn't the slightest idea how much money he is worth. Mrs. Warner tends to the finances. Spends lots of her time trying to get Pop in to eat, or answer telephone calls. When he is deeply engrossed in taking an auto apart, other business men call. A party calling from New York waiting on the line for five minutes while he cleaned a sparkplug.

Another hobby is painting. His house is full of his own works of art. Hasn't done much with the brush lately.

He is not demonstrative in football season. Seldom gets off the bench, where he smokes cigars and incessantly. Only time the boys saw him give vent to his emotions was after Stanford lost to Southern California in 1928. There was a couple of tear drops in his eyes. Thought his team should have won that game.

COCHRAN LEADER AT BILLIARD TOURNAMENT

New York—(AP)—Welker Cochran, of Hollywood, Calif., is undisputed leader in the international 15.2 ball-line billiard tournament today. He broke the deadlock for the lead last night by trouncing Willis Hoppe 400 to 252 in eight innings.

Cochran's smallest run was 17 and he had an average of 50 for the game, tying Hoppe for the best average compiled so far this tournament. He failed, however, to equal his rival's record high run of 217, ending the match with an unfinished cluster of 152. Today's scheduled round-off was against Matuszewska and Hoppe against Hagenbach.

It is most likely that Kell and Gossens will start the game at the forward positions, with Cooke or Du Pont or Courchane at the post positions, and Busch and Courchane at the guard posts.

A very interesting preliminary has been engaged to start at 7:30. In this game the two cities across the river from each other will battle it out. The teams are well matched and should interest the fans. The Little Chute team is going under the name of Holy Name Society and the Kimberly team is called "Spot" Cut-throats.

Due to the fact there are limited services, the game will not start until 9 o'clock.

SPEED SKATERS MEET AT CHICAGO STADIUM

Chicago—(AP)—Champions, former champions and enough others to make an entry list of more than 180, will open the battle for the North American indoor speed skating championships tomorrow night in the Chicago Stadium.

From Canada will come Ross Robinson, Percy Johnston, Jr., Jean Wilson and Lella Brooks. Potter, while Ray Murray and Allan Potts of New York, Eddie Wedge of Detroit, O'Neill Farrell, Frank Stack and Eddie Schroeder of Chicago, will attempt to take the title held by Robinson.

Among the women, another great battle should develop between Mrs. Potter and Loretta Neitzel of Detroit, who have been bitter rivals for several years.

WEDNESDAY'S RESULTS

The Bears basketball team in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial league moved into third place and Co. D. cagers dropped to fourth as result of Wednesday night's games. The Bears moved by virtue of their win over the Guards, the score being 26 and 13.

In the other game of the evening the Power company, backed up another win by defeating the Fox River Paper company team, 34 and 13. The Powers lead the loop and the Papermakers are next to the bottom.

Co. D. basketeers had little chance to win from the Bears. They trailed shortly after the game opened and, with only one field goal to their credit, ended the first half on the short end of a 16 and 6 count. There was less scoring in the second half but the Bears managed to count off more than the Guards and when it was all over the soldiers were defeated 26 and 13.

The Power company-Fox River game, during the first half, was much closer than the final score indicates and the rest period found the count 13 and 8 for the Powers. In the second half the team rallied and with Zeke Remmel doing the heavy shooting pushed the score far out of reach of the Papermakers.

second half all Neenah. The miserable showing of the Red Rockets in riot at half time for Coach Jorgenson sent them off to shoot rather than the things easy in the dressing room.

A peculiar feature of the game was the foul report. The Rockets were caught fouling just twice, while the Shi'asmen had 13 misdeemeanors chalked against them. Coach Carl Doehling of Ripon referred and Coach Arthur C. Denney of Lawrence umpired.

In the preliminary game the Appleton reserves made it two straight over the Neenah reserves by administering a 23 to 1 rallying. The Orange reserves won at Appleton in January when the clubs clashed.

There was about a minute's play left when the last goal was scored and the two squads were fighting. Fighting fighting for every advantage under the hoop. They dashed from one goal to another, missing every time but giving the crowd ample reason to go crazy and Coach Jorgenson and Shields some of their most hectic moments. Then came Peotter's muff and Bell's miss on the bounce that would have given the elongated youth an open shot at the hoop and made him a hero.

In Which Sam Ornstein Hears Of Superstitions In The Athletic World

SEVERAL weeks ago it was duly chronicled that on Sammy Ornstein, was a great basketball manager. His Specials then had copied first place in Older Boy league play and it was recounted that his Wolverines had won first place the year before.

But Sam hasn't learned all the tricks of the game it seems, and so this story is to tip him off to two things. True, they're superstitions, but nevertheless they are tried and proven superstitions and if Sam is to be a great manager he'll take heed.

This first one is never have your team's picture taken before a crucial game because the boys probably will lose; the other is never dine your team until after the season's effort has been completed.

All of which is another way of saying that Sam entertained his team at dinner the other evening and the boys went out and ate so much they took a trimming the next night in Older Boy elimination play.

MAKE PLANS FOR "Y" BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

Amateur Squads from 16 Cities Invited to Compete Here March 19-21

Amateur basketball teams from 16 cities in this section of the state will be asked to enter the district amateur tournament to be staged at the Y. M. C. A., March 19, 20 and 21. The winner and runner up in the tournament will be entered in the state amateur tournament to be held at Green Bay the week following.

Cities in this district are Manitowish, Algoma, Shurgeon Bay, Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Neenah, Menasha, Kimberly, New London, Shawano, Wrightstown, Niagara, Two Rivers, Luxemburg, Green Bay, Stevens Point and Waupaca.

The tournament is limited to 16 teams again this year and entries will close March 16 at noon. The committee named to handle details of the meet, draw up the schedule and pass on entries is composed of Herb Voeks, chairman, W. S. Ryan, secretary and treasurer, Al Falck, C. C. Bailey, Ray Nehls, and A. P. Jensen.

At the tourney held here last year 16 teams entered. The winner and two runners up entered the state meet at Green Bay.

MARQUETTE DEFEATS CREIGHTON 22 TO 21

Omaha, Neb.—(AP)—By the narrow margin of 21 to 22, Marquette university last night made it a grand slam in basketball this season with Creighton by defeating the Nebraska team for a second time.

Despite the close score, the game dragged in places and most of the action was centered in the last few minutes of play. The teams entered the final four minutes with Creighton leading, 17 to 15, but two long tosses gave Marquette a lead. In the last few seconds of the game, Creighton pushed the score to 21 to 22.

Vikings Leave Friday for Games With Cornell and Carleton Teams

WITH the Midwest conference basketball season rapidly drawing to a close, the Carleton team added another scalp to its list last week in a 40 to 17 game with Beloit. Only one game with Lawrence now remains between the Carls and their fourth consecutive Midwest cage title.

Monmouth won a 28 to 19 game from Knox early in the week to close the Scot schedule. Coe lost by a 42 to 30 score at Ripon and fell down badly at Lawrence to lose 28 to 11. In a game not figuring in the standings, Lawrence was defeated, 27 to 24 by Beloit.

Saturday of this week will find Cornell fighting to keep the Lawrence team from sharing second place honors, while Coe will meet Knox in a scrap for the cellar position. The following Monday is the date set for Lawrence to invade the Carleton camp in the last conference game for those teams.

The Vikings held their last practice for 1931 tonight at Alexander gymnasium and Friday morning will entrain for Mt. Vernon, Ia., on the season's last jaunt. Fully recovered from the grueling battle at Ripon Tuesday night, Coach Denney's first squad reported in perfect condition for the two game tour.

A chance at least finish second in league standings is offered the Vikes by the trip. They can oust Cornell from second place by beating the Mt. Vernon team and then have a great opportunity to beat Carleton and finish just a few points below the Carls.

Little is known about the Methodists at Mt. Vernon. However, they have romped through their schedule with only one defeat and in Midwest standings that means something. Carleton college, on the other hand, has traveled over its opponents in a rough shod manner. Ripon played the Carls the other night and although ahead with ten minutes of play left found the game ending with the Carls out in front by more than a dozen markers.

Seattle, Wash.—Tony Portillo, Seattle, technically knocked out Buddy Washington, Potomato, Ida. (?)

second half all Neenah. The miserable showing of the Red Rockets in riot at half time for Coach Jorgenson sent them off to shoot rather than the things easy in the dressing room.

A peculiar feature of the game was the foul report. The Rockets were caught fouling just twice, while the Shi'asmen had 13 misdeemeanors chalked against them. Coach Carl Doehling of Ripon referred and Coach Arthur C. Denney of Lawrence umpired.

In the preliminary game the Appleton reserves made it two straight over the Neenah reserves by administering a 23 to 1 rallying. The Orange reserves won at Appleton in January when the clubs clashed.

BADGERS HAVE HAD WORST CAGE SEASON IN LAST FIVE YEARS

Team Weakened by Graduation and Lack of Offensive Strength

MADISON — (P) — Ready to swing into its final two games of the season, the University of Wisconsin basketball team can look back on its poorest season in five years.

Handicapped by a semester graduation of its two veterans and further weakened by injuries, Wisconsin's team has been an inexperienced one. Despite the heavy toll of manpower, the Badgers have won 40 percent of their conference games to date, and took four of five non-conference tilts.

The usual strong Wisconsin defense has been somewhat weakened this season, but despite the lack of fortification, the Badgers have made a mark of permitting opponents 25.3 points a game for the Big Ten tilts and 21 a contest for the season.

Lack of offense has been the main cause of trouble with a season average of 23 points a game, and a Western conference mark of only 21.5 a tilt.

Individual scoring efforts for the season have been generally equally divided with Douglas Nelson out in front. Nelson, who has seen action at every position, has counted 71 points for the season, 47 of them coming in Big Ten play, an average of approximately five points a game. Marv Steen, clever little forward, is runner up with 66, of which 41 came in conference games.

Dr. Walter E. Meanwell has long claimed that a decisive home floor advantage. The results to date indicate he was right, for the Badgers have dropped six of the seven games lost away from home. Minnesota's husky team has been the only team to turn the trick on the field house floor, the Gophers giving the Badgers their worst beating of the season, 42 to 15.

Hopes for victory in the two remaining games are none too bright. Michigan, led by Norman Daniels, center, and Ray Allenhoof, guard, comes here Saturday night. The Wolverines won the first contest at Ann Arbor, 23 to 19. Wisconsin will close its season Monday night against Purdue led by Johnny Wooden and Harry Kellar, high scoring pair. The Boilermakers demolished a 46 to 27 beating to the Badgers at LaFayette, Ind., last Saturday night.

BILL TILDEN AGAIN MASTERS KOZELUH

Chicago — (P) — The world's best ex-amateur tennis player is still the master of the official world's professional champion.

For the sixth time in as many matches on their tour, William Tilden II has taken the measure of Karel Kozeluh, the Czechoslovakian. Tilden exhibited much of the mastery that gained him seven American amateur titles in downing Kozeluh in an abbreviated match at the Stadium last night, 7-5, 2-6, 6-3. Illness prevented the Czech from continuing the match, scheduled for three out of five sets, but none of the 9,000 fans doubted that the outcome would have been different over the longer route.

Frank Hunter, Tilden's old Davis cup doubles partner, won for the fifth time in five engagements with Emmett Fane in a preliminary match, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

LAYTON PROTESTS PROPOSED CUE MATCH

Chicago — (P) — Johnny Layton of Los Angeles, former world three-cushion billiard champion, has filed a protest with the National Billiard Association of America, against a proposed match between Arthur Thurnblad, present titleholder, and Willie Hoppe, former balkline champion.

Layton protested that he was ahead of Hoppe in line for a match with Thurnblad, because Hoppe has not played in the last two championship tournaments.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Miami, Fla. — Mickey Walker, world middleweight champion, outpointed Johnny Risko, Cleveland (10), non-title; Gene Stanton, Cleveland, stopped Jeff Carroll, Biloxi, Miss., (2); George Pavellek, Cleveland, knocked out James Russell, Detroit (1).

Jersey City — Tony Canzoneri, world lightweight champion, stopped Tony Kaufman, New York (1), non-title.

Oakland, Cal. — Hans Birke, Oakland, outpointed "Big Boy" Peterson, New Orleans (10).

DON GEORGE WINS 2 FALLS FROM ZBYSKO

Minneapolis — (P) — Ed Don George, recognized in several states as world's champion heavyweight wrestler, last night took two straight falls from Karl Zbyszko at the Auditorium.

Don George won the first in 10:45 and the second in 27:36. Joe Stecher and Ernie Scharpegge tussled to a 30-minute draw.

LA CROSSE TEAMS OUT OF SPARTA TOURNAMENT

LaCrosse — (P) — Athletic officials at LaCrosse high school said decreased revenues and increased expenses in maintaining the department has forced local teams out of the district basketball tournament at Sparta, Mar. 12-14.

SHIRES AND BADGERS FINALLY WIN A GAME

Marquette — (P) — With Art Shires, forward, and Badger center, starting the Marquette-Badgers last night won a long-sought basketball game. Marquette's team, 27 to 20, won 41 to 21.

Training Camp Notes

ASO ROBLES — (P) — When the second squad of the Pittsburgh Pirates, due here Saturday, is in shape to begin the training camp series of ball games with the Yankees, they're going to get a surprise or two, in the opinion of the board of strategy here. Jewel Ens put several of his rookie infielders through a speedy drill yesterday and was so pleased he said today's program would be even heavier. Tony Diet, Texas second baseman, and Harry Giesberger, San Francisco, were especially impressive.

Brandenton, Fla. — (P) — Mike Gonzalez, who, according to Gabby Street, was "catching" way back in my time and seems just as agile now, is going to help coach the younger members of the Cardinals' pitching staff. Street believes the old Cuban will be able to impart many valuable pointers to the juvenile flingers.

Street said today he regarded his receiving staff of Jimmy Wilson, Gus Mancuso and Gonzales as the best "three-man catching staff in baseball."

West Palm Beach, Fla. — (P) — The continued absence of Pitchers Walter Stewart and Warren "Rip" Collins from the Browns' training camp here today caused rumors they were holding out. Stewart was good enough to win 20 games for the sixth place Browns last season. In-field practice was scheduled for today, the first of the training grind. Manager Bill Killefer said all the men in camp were rounding into shape satisfactorily.

Tampa, Fla. — (P) — Bennie Frey, once the nemesis of the Chicago Cubs, while the Cincinnati Reds played havoc with the Bruin's chances for the National league pennant, has taken on considerable weight and appears in excellent condition for the coming campaign. Bennie lost his mastery over the Cubs after the middle of last season because, he believed, of too much work.

St. Petersburg, Fla. — (P) — The new American league ball has not made much difference to the New York Yankees' pitchers, who so far have only thrown straight ones across the plate and not very hard, but it has provided Coach Art Fletcher with a phrase to pep up batting practice. Every time a batter pops up an easy fly, Fletcher comments "that ball ain't so lively."

San Antonio, Tex. — (P) — Chief Bender, famous Indian pitcher who is coaching the New York Giants, has found a lot of company here. Representatives of three Indian tribes, Osage, Creek and Cherokee, were in the audience at yesterday's drill. Francis Healy, from Holyoke, Mass., was a bit doubtful about their being Indians. "Why, these fellows haven't even got a tommyhawk," he said.

Clearwater, Fla. — (P) — Wilbert Robinson, portly manager of the Brooklyn baseball club, is perfectly willing to talk about his batting order for the season although he hasn't decided upon it. "Thompson is a good lead off man," he said yesterday, "but right now I like the combination of Frederick leading off with Thompson, O'Doul and Herman coming up in that order."

Fort Myers, Fla. — (P) — Hank McDonald, giant California right-hander who is trying out with the Philadelphia Athletics, has the entire camp wondering how much speed he possesses. Captain Collins asked him yesterday burning them into Mickey Cochrane.

"Hey," shouted Collins, "don't cut loose yet."

"I'm not, boss," replied the six foot-four rookie. "This ain't nothing. I can speed 'em in a lot faster."

McDonald worked out on the coast and is already in shape and anxious to get going.

Winter Haven, Fla. — (P) — Manager Burt Shotton of the Phillies called his baseball squad out today for the first practice. Fifteen players, mostly batters, are in camp. Runners were in circulation that Phil Collins, ace of the pitching staff last year, may be a holdout.

"We haven't any holdouts," Shotton told questioners. Asked about Chuck Klein, heavy-hitting outfielder, Shotton said he wasn't due here until March 4.

Car Owners Hasty in Throwing Old Batteries Away

The other day four automobile editor was talking with Mr. George Schwab, manager of the Gibson Tire Station at 211-213 West College Ave. We had been discussing in particular whether or not our present storage battery would continue to give good service for a few months, so we asked Mr. Schwab to tell us something about the average driver's reaction to a weak and run-down battery.

"The average driver," said Mr. Schwab, "is not as hasty in buying a new battery as he used to be — but he is still as careful and economical as he should be. Naturally, when a man finds a run-down battery in his car — especially for the second or third time — he concludes at once that he must need a new battery. Sometimes of course he is quite right and should replace his old battery at once with a new one. Very often however, a run-down battery doesn't mean anything of the sort. Our advice to customers always is — bring it to us first and let us inspect it for you. A visit to a reliable battery dealer will often show that a run-down battery needs only a recharge or minor repair to make it operate satisfactorily again. And the economy here is easy to see — for reliable battery dealers, as at the Gibson Tire Station, make no charge for this type of inspection service."

NEW YORK — (P) — Two new world records were on the books, eight of the nation's best were their first national A. A. U. championship medals while six others were in possession of their second successive title after annual A. A. U. held in Madison Square Garden last night.

Phil Edwards and Hans Assert, of New York City, were the only champions to repeat on the track.

fifth of a second off the existing world's record for the 75 yard high hurdles. He beat Lee Seutman of University of Illinois, co-holder of the record in 1928 5-10. The University of Pennsylvania medley relay team, with the diminutive Carl Coan running the anchor lap, slashed 5 1-5 seconds off the eight year old record in the one and seven eighths medley relay time to defeat Bates college in 7:39 3-10. The old record was rung up by a quarter from the Illinois Athletic club.

The two new world records were made in a program that saw Ray Conger take the 1,000 yard championship with his famous bell lap kick; Leo Lermond give 'em a flash of his old time speed to win the two mile title and Fred Sturdy leaped 13 feet, 11 inches to retain his pole vault crown.

Phil Edwards and Hans Assert, of New York City, were the only champions to repeat on the track.

Edwards conquered Sera Martin, world's 800 metro champion from France, to keep his 600 yard title while Assert led a large pack over the two mile steeplechase.

The 1930 champions swept through the field events. Harold Osborn repeated in the standing high jump. Anton Burg turned back Osborn and a class field of youngsters in the running high jump. William Werner took the standing broad jump.

Five times little Bill Carr of the University of Pennsylvania was forced to travel the 300 yards before gaining the decision over John Lewis, the Chunky Negro champion from Detroit City college. The pair ran twice to qualify for the finals and then fought through the last lap of the deciding race to a dead heat. In the run off, Carr nipped the titleholder at the tape.

The Illinois Athletic club retained its team championship, scoring

While ineligible this semester because of a low grade in one course, Goldenberg expects to return to the university to play next fall. Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite said. Goldenberg's grades in other subjects will remove the ineligibility, he said.

16 points with victories by Conger, Burg and Osborn and a fourth place by the latter in the running high jump. Pennsylvania placed several with 15 points and the New York Athletic club third with eleven.

HIGH SCHOOL YOUTHS MEET WITH KIWANIS

Stage Mock Trial and Hear Talks by University Leaders

Special to Post-Crescent
Chilton — A joint meeting of the class in agriculture in the Chilton high school and the Chilton Kiwanis club was held at the Odd Fellow hall on Tuesday evening. The dinner at 6:30 was served by the mothers of the high school band.

Under the direction of the instructor in agriculture, A. L. McMahon, the boys held a mock trial on the alleged owner of a scrub bull, which was meant to bring out the destructive economy of keeping this type of herd sire.

The speaker of the evening was James A. James, assistant dean of the college of agriculture at the University of Wisconsin. He contrasted farm conditions of 20 years ago with those of today and showed what wonderful strides have been made by instruction in agriculture.

The central theme in the speaker's message was that every boy should have a high school education. He pointed out the fact that the farm boys of the state, while forming 33 1-3 per cent of the boy population of the state, form only 12 per cent of the students in colleges and state universities.

Farm boys are not getting the training and education that the present demands because their fathers do not yet fully appreciate how necessary such education is to meet the modern demands of industry, whether on farm, in factory, commercial or professional life, he stated.

TAXPAYERS WARNED TO PAY BY END OF WEEK

(Special to Post-Crescent)

New London — With March 1, at which time all taxes are supposed to be in the treasurer's hands, only a few days off, tax money is coming in in large sums this week, according to L. M. Whether there will be any great difference between the delinquent tax roll cannot be told at present.

POOLSHACKERS HOLD SOFTBALL LOOP LEAD

New London — Indoor ball games last night saw the league team give the Home team a good whipping. The winners pounded in eight runs in the first inning and had everything as they wished. The game ended 15 to 7. Bordens cracked out a 14 to 10 win over the Poolshackers to keep their lead in the league. Magaskis started pitching and was hit hard. Ray Craine, Appleton, finished the game for the losers and had better luck, striking out six men in three innings. Walls, pitching for the winners, ran his strikeouts up to 14.

$3,000 SPENT OUT OF COMMUNITY CHEST

Fund Expected to Last Well into March, Officials Estimate

New London — At a meeting of the Community chest fund Tuesday night it was reported that a trifle more than $3,000 was spent during the past month. The expenditures were for food, fuel and clothing for destitute families. Cards are to be mailed this week asking that all contributors to the fund pay their pledges. Contributions will not equal what was at first anticipated, as some working citizens who had donated a part of their wages have since been thrown out of employment. It is expected that the fund will last well into March. Last week $350 was spent in various ways.

Coach Stacy's Team Turns Back County Seaters, 45 to 9

New London — With a score of 45-9, the game played last night between New London's high school team and Waupaca turned into a rout for the New London boys. ESKIMOS GIVE UP DOGS FOR PLANES

Edmonton, Alberta — The dog and sled are no longer the mode of transportation for the Eskimo fur trapper. That worthy now has gone modern and uses an airplane to transact his business.

Eskimos have found that they can receive better prices for their furs in Edmonton and other large cities in Canada than by selling them to visiting traders. So they are now hiring airplanes to ship their wares into the cities.

The average cost of renting a plane is about $375, but this transportation has aided several of the trappers who have netted between $25,000 and $40,000 for their furs this year whereas their returns when sold direct to traders have averaged about two-thirds that amount.

NO EXTRA COST TO REMOVE SNOW

Regular Crew Kept Streets Open to Traffic This Winter

Kaukauna — Snow removal has not added to city expenditures this winter, according to Thomas Reardon, street commissioner. There has been little snow and the streets were easily kept open to traffic with the regular crew of men.

The only additional cost incurred was for cinders which had to be used to a large extent at corners to alleviate the slippery condition of streets. The cinders were hauled and spread on the streets by the city street department workmen.

A larger crew was maintained for several months, but the workmen were employed on a rotating schedule so that the total number of hours of labor amounted to about the same as one full time crew. This was done to give a larger number of men work.

No trouble has been caused by snow this winter and the streets were usually cleaned in a few hours after snow falls. Joseph Kuehn, street commissioner of the south road district, is confined to St. Elizabeth hospital and W. Gulkey is in charge of the work in his absence.

REVIVAL OF TRADE IS LOOMING AHEAD, SNOWDEN DECLARES

Controller of British Purse-strings Develops Optimistic Viewpoints

London — (AP) — Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer — the man who controls the pursestrings of the British empire — is an optimist in a world of economic depression.

With Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, Snowden wields the most influential power in the British government and as 1931 approaches, the chancellor has given The Associated Press his views on the world situation.

"The abnormal volume of unemployment which has prevailed the last year is due, as President Hoover said in a message to congress, to world causes over which one country alone has little or no control," Snowden said.

Nevertheless he has a feeling of optimism regarding the future of world trade in general and British trade in particular.

He is confident the time will come when not only the magnitude of Great Britain's trade but of world

Shell's reduced motor oil price

first step in broad economy program for motorists

SHELL MOTOR OIL, the highest quality lubricant any car can use, has been reduced from 30 cents to 25 cents per quart. Increased volume and lower refining costs have made possible this price reduction.

This is the first step in a new program of vital interest to every motorist. In the next few weeks Shell will make available to you other important economies affecting the cost of operating your car.

Shell Motor Oil, now only 25 cents per quart, is premium grade oil. It is made from the choicest crudes... Refined by the most modern methods...

From it you get the same ease in starting and smooth performance, the same protection against repair bills as from the most costly oils.

Shell Motor Oil has a low "pour point" for freezing weather, and high heat resistance for torrid summers. Under the toughest jobs, it can't break down or lose its penetrating power. It forms only 1/3 to 1/5 as much carbon as the most expensive oils — and it forms no hard carbon at all.

No Hard Carbon in Shell Motor Oil

The hard, flinty carbon left after burning a sample of an expensive motor oil. The amount of carbon formed was over 3 times that created by burning the same amount of Shell Motor Oil.

The carbon left after burning Shell Motor Oil. It is soft — will not cake like cement on your cylinder walls like the hard carbon formed by the oil at the top. And there is only 1/5 as much of it.

Thank the millions who have switched to Shell for this new economy in car lubrication trade will be so great that the world of today is unable to conceive it. The chancellor asserted there is plenty of purchasing power and credit to be employed when things are favorable.

"Pessimism has been overdone," said Snowden, who deprecates this spirit which is abroad in England. Snowden, who himself has triumphed over great adversities in his career, said it was not the spirit of pessimism which triumphed in the past in difficulties as great as those the country faces today.

A hundred years ago times were as bad or worse but things changed and the next 80 years marked the greatest prosperity in the history of Great Britain.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

USE ABILITY TO BEST END, WORKERS TOLD

Don't Just Try to "Get by,"
Major Norman A. Imrie
Advises Employees.

"Do the best you can, with what you've got, where you are!" That, advised Major Norman A. Imrie of Culver Military academy, Culver, Ind., is the way to accomplish big things. Major Imrie was the featured speaker at the second meeting of the Appleton Safety school at Conway hotel last night. There were about 300 men present from the various industrial plants of this city and vicinity.

Major Imrie illustrated his address with humorous stories, poetry, and typical military humor. He took his audience from the valley of laughter to the crest of high emotion with story after story, always using them to illustrate his points. "Self preservation was the first law of humanity," he said. "The law of humanity," said Major Imrie, "has been passed, this law gradually changed until today it not only includes self-preservation but safety for others. We should be vitally interested in this safety question because it is so important."

The slogan on which Major Imrie based his address was suggested by Theodore Roosevelt, he said. The talk was based on the three parts of the slogan. Do the best you can, declared the major. This means that just trying to "get by" is not satisfactory. Physical comfort softens people today are trying to get by instead of trying to improve. Mediocre success satisfies many who should be working for excellence.

Do Best Possible
"We should not try to get by just because the boss is looking," he said. "It is in our own interest to do the best we can because to do anything else petrifies and demoralizes us."

"All one can expect from you," the major said, "is to do the best you can with what you've got. You may not have as much as the other fellow and you may not have all you'd like to have. The Creator made us all different. We have varied interests, abilities and talents."

"Don't be looking everywhere for opportunities, because the possibility is that they exist right where you are. Don't be like the African farmer who sold his farm, home and stocks, to secure a stake to hunt for diamonds. He spent a life time roaming the world seeking the elusive treasure and finally returned to his old village home just as his life was approaching a close, only to find the man who had bought his old home had found the diamonds."

"Don't keep telling what you would do if you were here or there. The chances are if you can't do a good job where you are, you can't do a good job anywhere else. If you've got the right spirit you can surprise the world with the things you can do."

"Follow the examples set by David, of Bible fame, by Alexander Pope, the great poet, and Robert Lewis Stevenson, the great writer. These men did the best they could with what they had, where they were. Everyone can do the same."

Herb Helling, director of Appleton Vocational school, was chairman. He led a short program of group singing which preceded the address.

Boston — Contestants of the will of Mrs. Mary A. Dolan, who rose from apprentice to a wealthy modiste under the name of Mme. Driscoll, are offering to prove she invested $300,000 in the Boston Braves so she could boast she was an owner and have a front seat at the ball game.

New Waupaca Ordinance To Bar Liquor Traffic

An ordinance regulating and forbidding the sale and transportation of intoxicating liquor as provided by the Eighteenth amendment was adopted at a recent session of the Waupaca common council. Attached to the ordinance are penalties which are to be placed upon offenders.

Any peace officer, which embodies city police, county sheriff, deputy sheriffs, undersheriffs, marshals, deputy marshals and constables may examine any vehicle within the limits of the city that has good reason to be suspected of unlawful transporting liquors.

They also are authorized to open and examine any package contained in the vehicle or any package of a carrier believed to contain contraband liquors.

As the ordinance becomes operative, the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors will be strictly prohibited there.

Other provisions carry with them the same purposes of the Eighteenth amendment, except that offenders apprehended within the city limits of Waupaca will be subject to local fines and sentences.

The following section of the ordinance carries the penalty clause:

"Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be fined in addition to the costs of the action not more than $100 and in default of the payment of such fines and costs by imprisonment in the county jail of Waupaca not more than six months or by both fine and imprisonment."

EMPLOYEES TRY TO PURCHASE 3 FAMOUS PAPERS

Attempt to Carry Out Will of Joseph Pulitzer to Assure Perpetuity

New York—(AP)—Paul Block, publisher, announced today he had withdrawn his offer to purchase the New York World newspapers. He made his announcement through Max D. Steuer, his attorney, who explained that Mr. Block not only had decided not to purchase the newspapers for himself but also to withdraw the offer he made to buy them and allow the employees of the World 45 days within which to purchase them without profit to himself.

New York—(AP)—Employees of the New York World, the Evening World and the Sunday World, numbering 2,867, were themselves making news today in a militant resolve that the three Worlds should not come to an end and that the will of Joseph Pulitzer dictating their perpetuity should be respected.

Surrogate Foley has indicated he might hand down a decision today. By his own words, he must decide whether or not the will can be interpreted to allow the three Pulitzer brothers to dispose of their trust and whether or not it would be advisable to sell them to the Scripps-Howard syndicate for a sum estimated at $5,000,000.

In an enthusiastic meeting at the Hotel Astor last evening, the employees formed an organization to be known tentatively as the World Employees Cooperative association. James W. Barrett, city editor of the World, was elected president. A resolution appealing for public support of their efforts was adopted and pledges totalling nearly $875,000 were announced.

Receiving a tremendous ovation Barrett called the project "the most spontaneous outburst in the history of American journalism."

"We are now at the Marne," he said, "and our objective is to preserve the world. We are seeking to uphold the will of Joseph Pulitzer, although others may seek to set it aside. If others want to set it aside perhaps to die, let us at least register an emphatic 'no'."

Pulitzers Seek to Sell

Herbert, Joseph Jr., and Ralph Pulitzer are seeking to sell the papers founded by their father on the grounds that they have lost $3,000,000 in five years and cannot continue publication longer than 90 days.

Two concrete offers have been received, in addition to the tentative one made by employees. The Scripps-Howard syndicate proposes to merge the Worlds with their New York Telegram. Paul Block, publisher of a string of papers, offers $500,000 more than Scripps-Howard with the provision that he will sell to the employees within 45 days at the same price he paid.

The will of Joseph Pulitzer contained the following:

"I particularly enjoin upon my sons and my descendants the duty of preserving, perfecting, and perpetuating the World newspaper in the same spirit in which I have striven to create and conduct it as a public institution from motives higher than mere gain."

Cleveland—Brick houses in nifty colors are coming, lavender, orange and what not. The beauties of glazed brick in new hues have been set forth at a meeting of the American Ceramic society.

EXPERIMENT CLUB IS ACTIVE AT SCHOOL

The judgments of household chemistry is studied and experimented with in the Experiment club for eighth and ninth grade pupils in Roosevelt Junior high school.

Among the household experiments is the study of glass and how it is made, the ingredients of soap, how fabrics are tested, the manufacture of soft soap, what adhesive tape, gum and cement consists of. In the experimentation, the class has made short tests for starch in foodstuffs and has analyzed bread, flour, potatoes, baking powder and other common household goods.

This week the club will study and make chemical ice. Mr. Werny Clough, general science teacher, is in charge of the club and its activity. In order to have the club a true success, Mr. Clough explained that the boys do their own work and experimentation so that they keep up their own interest.

BULKLEY CONFIDENT THAT "WET" ELEMENT IS STILL POWERLESS

Says He Will Make No Fuss Over Prohibition — Refuses to Talk

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—Have you ever wondered what became of Senator Robert J. Bulkley, who won such a surprising victory last November with a "dripping wet" campaign in supposedly dry Ohio?

You can see him on the Senate floor, but you can't hear him. Like Dwight Morrow of New Jersey, he has been keeping quiet during his first couple of months here. Anyone who expected some hot speeches from Bulkley in favor of repealing the 18th amendment can consider himself disappointed. There haven't been any Bulkley speeches at all.

The issue is being kept before the country, he explained when asked why he wasn't making wet speeches. "But we can't really do much here yet. We must elect some more fellows who run on sound platforms for repeal. You see, we're still a minority."

On Bank Committee.
The Democratic senator for Ohio, meanwhile, has been active on an issue which he considers at least equally important and on which he qualifies as an expert. A member of the Senate banking and currency committee, he is serving on the Glass subcommittee which is investigating the national banking laws. While serving in the House—1911 to 1915—Bulkley helped write the Federal Reserve act and his examination of witnesses has demonstrated his broad knowledge of the subject. Discussing the investigation, Bulkley indicated why he considered the work of more moment than wet speeches at a time when the wets are virtually powerless.

"There's nothing more important," he declared, "because the whole question of national prosperity is directly involved. We are trying to find out why 6000 banks have failed in the last 10 years. We are going into the causes of the Wall Street crash. We are examining the operations of the Federal Reserve system and the controller of the currency. We want to know what changes should be made in the law and I think we can find some valuable remedies."

Makes Many Friends
Bulkley has been making many friends. Although he is a millionaire, he is the type of man who does. Both conservatives and progressives on the Republican side of the aisle speak well of him. He dresses plainly, sometimes almost slovenly, and talks gently and frankly to everyone. He has a chauffeur, but drives his own car, as he did when campaigning in Ohio last fall. He lives in a large house on lower 16th street with Mrs. Bulkley and a 12-year-old daughter, Katherine. The Bulkleys are popular in Washington society. The senator enjoys music; in Cleveland he was one of the sponsors of the Metropolitan Opera seasons.

He is on three Senate committees. Those besides banking and currency are manufactures and privileges and elections. Both are important, the latter especially when there's a question about a senator's right to a seat.

Speaking again of Bulkley and prohibition—the issue which first brought him before the country in a big way—Bulkley is one of that esoteric group which read the Wickersham report all the way through. And one who thought there were "many sensible things" in the report, but that the conclusions and recommendations looked silly when compared with the rest of it.

Favors Repeal
"I'm flatly for repeal," the senator says. "I wouldn't resist a revision that would let the federal government protect the dry states from smuggling across their borders, but the federal government shouldn't have the job of enforcing state laws internally."

"I think it is becoming more and more clear that this administration, with regard to enforcement, is just letting things ride. The Wickersham report, of course, was used as a stall. Neither the president or the Department of Justice is going to do a single thing to carry out the recommendations which the Wickersham commission made in the interest of better enforcement. The administration people in the Senate have been perfectly content to fiddle away with the Howell bill for the District of Columbia, which everybody knows can't become a law."

Bans Smoking

Coads of Michigan State Normal School at Ypsilanti who are caught smoking will be denied their diplomas, according to Dr. Charles McKenny, above, president of the institution. People of Michigan do not want teachers who smoke, he said.

land he was one of the sponsors of the Metropolitan Opera seasons.

He is on three Senate committees. Those besides banking and currency are manufactures and privileges and elections. Both are important, the latter especially when there's a question about a senator's right to a seat.

Speaking again of Bulkley and prohibition—the issue which first brought him before the country in a big way—Bulkley is one of that esoteric group which read the Wickersham report all the way through. And one who thought there were "many sensible things" in the report, but that the conclusions and recommendations looked silly when compared with the rest of it.

Favors Repeal
"I'm flatly for repeal," the senator says. "I wouldn't resist a revision that would let the federal government protect the dry states from smuggling across their borders, but the federal government shouldn't have the job of enforcing state laws internally."

"I think it is becoming more and more clear that this administration, with regard to enforcement, is just letting things ride. The Wickersham report, of course, was used as a stall. Neither the president or the Department of Justice is going to do a single thing to carry out the recommendations which the Wickersham commission made in the interest of better enforcement. The administration people in the Senate have been perfectly content to fiddle away with the Howell bill for the District of Columbia, which everybody knows can't become a law."

Opportunity Room Pupils Learn How To "Keep House"

Wash on Monday, iron on Tuesday, sew on Wednesday, bake on Thursday, sew on Friday—such is the routine work for the girls in the ungraded opportunity room at Lincoln school.

Twenty children from all grades work under the direction of Miss Lydia Schottler and Miss Mildred Donner. "Keeping house" is done under Miss Schottler's supervision, while the boys work on handicraft subjects with Miss Donner, who also teaches the academic work.

The children have their own workshop, recitation room and bath room, which they keep in order and live in during their school hours. The workroom is equipped with a gas range, ironing board, lavatory, clothes rack, cupboard for the dishes and supplies, and tables for housekeeping. At the extreme end of the room are two looms for rug weaving which is taught, Miss Schottler explained, to coordinate the muscle movement of the children.

The bath room, done in attractive rose and cream, was achieved by the students themselves. The curtains, day bed cover, shelf coverings were made by the girls in the class. The boys constructed and painted the dressing table, shelf cabinets, table and footstool. Even the material for the floor rugs was dyed by the students before they wove the pieces together. This bath room is the greatest factor in teaching cleanliness to the children because those who do not have the proper home facilities are given baths at school.

Every noon, a hot dish is prepared by the girls of the class, the tables are set properly for the luncheon, which the children eat at school. Each child has his toothbrush, clean hands and face before he is allowed to sit at the tables in the workroom. Occasional parties are given for the students to teach them courtesy toward one another and the idea of helping one another.

A handwork exhibit is held every spring by the school and the work is sold. The children work with various materials of raffia, woolen yarn for rugs, and bags of all sizes and de-

ABYSSINIA GETS OHIO HISTORIAN TO TEACH THERE

American Faces Task of Educating 10,000,000 People

Addis Ababa, Abyssinia — (AP) — An American educator has undertaken the huge task of educating 10,000,000 Abyssinians. He is Dr. F. Ernest Work, professor of history in Muskingum college, New Concord, Ohio.

How big a job is his may be seen in the fact that less than one per cent of the natives are able to read or write. Many members of the upper classes use a metal or rubber seal for their signature, while others simply use a thumb-mark.

The finger-print system is used throughout the country. When an Abyssinian merchant enters into a commercial agreement, he merely impresses his inky thumb at the bottom of the paper. Except for a few scattering foreign missionary institutions, there are practically no schools in Abyssinia.

The Abyssinians have no school-books and no secular literature, and nothing upon which an education can be based. Professor Work hopes to have American school-books translated into Amharic, the native language of most Abyssinians.

The boys learn to paint, weave, make furniture, wooden animals, and cane chairs. The Board of Education furnishes all the material with which the children work.

and later to educate the students in English. His assistants are several Abyssinian students who went to America and studied under Professor Work at Muskingum.

The American educator, who is living in Addis Ababa, has been given the title of "Director of Education of Ethiopia" by Emperor Haile Selassie.

Douglas Davis, holder of several national flying records, is to be a regular pilot on the new Atlanta-Miami passenger line.

Severe Breaking Out on Back of Neck. Healed by Cuticura.

"I had a severe breaking out of eczema on the back of my neck. It started in the form of a rash and was angry looking. It itched and burned causing me to scratch a great deal, also losing sleep at night. I tried different remedies but without results. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after bathing with hot water and Cuticura Soap and applying the Cuticura Ointment I got relief. I used them three times a day and about one cake of Soap and one half box of the Ointment completely healed the trouble." (Signed) Mrs. L. A. Kaats, Rock, Kansas.

RULES CHANGED BY EINSTEIN, FRIEND SAYS

Official of Observatory Stresses Value of
Visit to U. S.

BY FREDERICK H. SEARES
(Assistant director of the Carnegie Institution of Washington Mount Wilson observatory, at which Albert Einstein has been studying new relations about the universe.)

Pasadena, Calif. —(AP)—The question has been put to me of what the visit of Albert Einstein means to us. In a sense, scientific investigation is a game. The physicist must assemble his protons and electrons in a world—not any world, but one which has the properties of the physical world about us.

As with all games, there are rules. Some of these are predetermined, for example the fundamental rules of thinking. Others we choose for ourselves, and in this choice we have astonishing freedom. If I wish to arrange a shuffled pack of cards in sequences according to the four suits, you know the scores of solitaire games, each with its own set of rules, by which this may be done.

But it is not obvious that the game of world building may be played in more than one way. It remained for Einstein to show us that such is the case, and that if we judiciously change the rules we may still win fairly, with a greatly increased score.

Rules are Revised

As a matter of fact we have unconsciously been revising the rules of the game ever since men began to think in a scientific way; but we didn't realize it until Einstein drove it home in a way that could not be ignored.

Thus with our notion of space. It may seem to you queer that space, which probably you think of as an empty void, should have anything to do with rules. But the space of physics and astronomy is not the empty void which separates objects from each other.

The physicist never thinks of space apart from objects within it; in his mind is always the idea of the distance of these objects from each other. When he says that space has certain properties he is not talking about the void, but only about how he makes measurements to find what these distances are.

But you ask, is he not obliged to measure distance in a definite way? The answer is, no. He may measure in any way he likes, along what we call a straight line, for example; or, if he finds reason for so doing, he may measure along some curve connecting two objects and call the result distance.

The physicist's space is therefore essentially a set of rules for measurement. Those used until Einstein suggested a change were unconsciously adopted by Euclid two thousand years ago. Until less than a century ago no one realized that by accepting one of Euclid's postulates we had committed ourselves to making measurements in a definite way, or that measurements could be made in any other way.

Suggests Curved Space
Even then we looked upon the matter as a geometrical curiosity, without practical significance; and by the time Einstein suggested the advantages of a change and we began to hear about curved space, our long-held ideas had become so fixed that we could not at once readjust ourselves.

For the layman it was even worse. He had in mind the empty void, and how could such a thing as a void be flat or curved? But if we say that curved space means only a new set of rules which require that measurements be made along curved lines, the idea at least makes sense, even though you may not be convinced that such a strange procedure should be advantageous.

But I assure you that it is, for it enables us to win the game with a score we could not otherwise attain; but if that statement brings no illumination, let me ask you, what is the distance from here to New York?

Your answer undoubtedly will be the miles measured over the curved surface of the earth, because that is the distance which our every day experiences make it useful to know. As with our ideas of space, so with a dozen of our other cherished notions. Each has been transformed, and set before us in a new light.

Quite apart from the intrinsic importance of the results, is the remarkable fact that such momentous changes of viewpoint could be made.

By teaching us that, Einstein has put in our hands new power. The value of this service, it seems to me, cannot be set too high. The public itself would first catch the humor of a suggestion that it knows anything about relativity, and yet the warm interest in the man who has given us relativity continues.

Part of this interest is my spontaneous response to a gracious personality full of modesty and kindness and humanity. For the rest, it means, I think, that our imagination has in some way been touched.

Nevertheless, Professor Einstein himself would insist on the purely intellectual character of what he has done. As he remarked the other day:

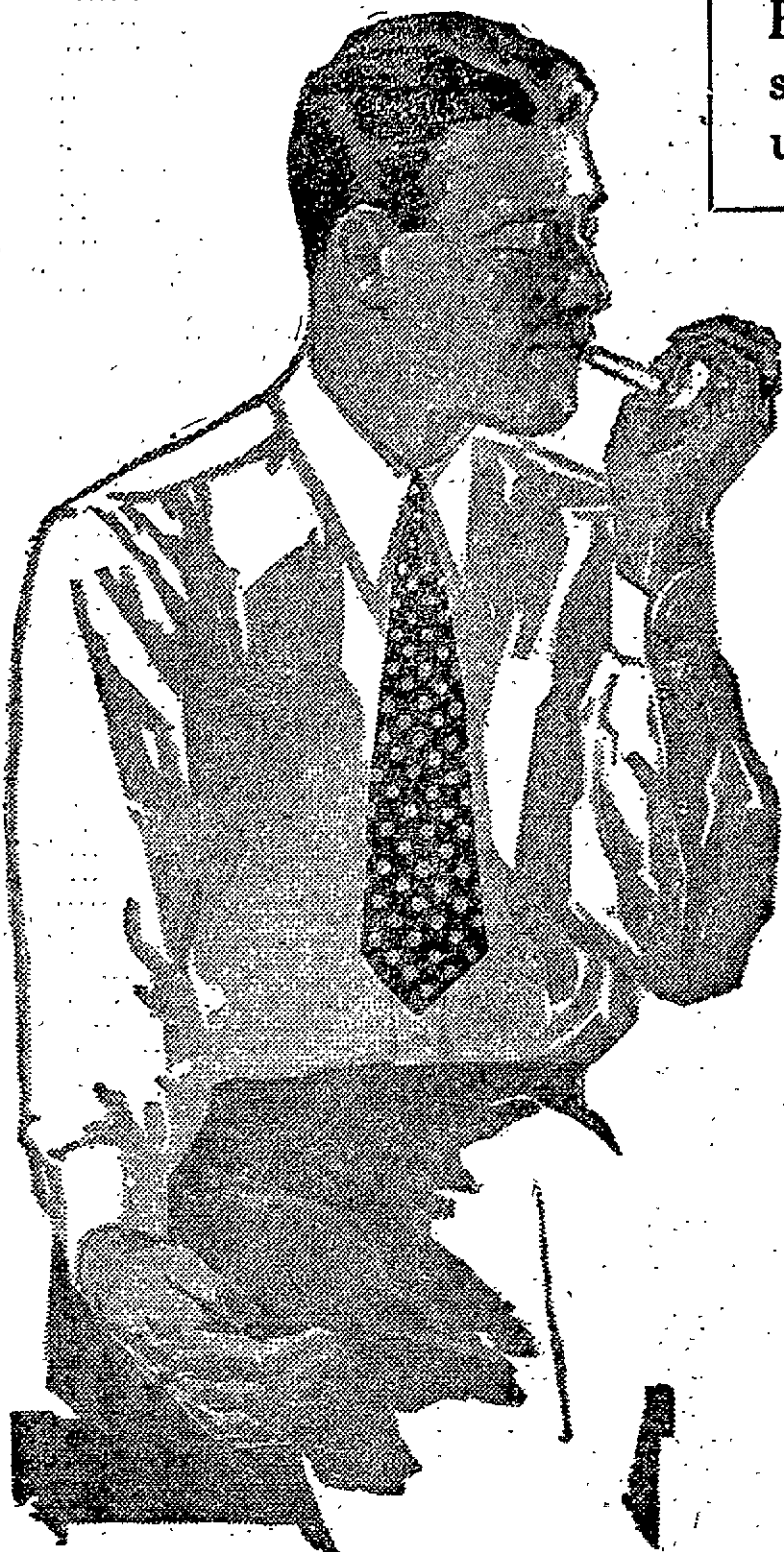

"Relativity has nothing to do with the soul; it is a matter only for the head."
